Abolition asked

ABOUT SAME time President Nixon was asking for death penalty for certain crimes Wednesday, Rep. Robert Drinan, D-Mass., told Washington D.C. news conference he and colleagues plan to introduce legislation abolishing it under all federal laws. (UPI)

No-poverty plan killed by Viet war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sargent Shriver made public today a plan for ending poverty in the United States which he said he gave President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966. Shriver said it became a "casualty of the war in Vietnam."

"In a sense, this document could be described as the Pentagon Papers of the poverty war," Shriver said. He said it had been kept secret like the controversial Defense Department study on U.S. policy in Indochina after World War II and died in the budget bureau.

Shriver, first head of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) that spearheaded the Johnson administration's anti-poverty efforts, made public his plan in testimony before a Senate subcommittee on inter-governmental relations.

"The 1972 Democratic vice presidential candidate was defending federal anti-poverty programs," he said, "had become a favorite whipping boy" of President Nixon's administration.

Among the proposals Shriver made in his 1966 plan were a negative income tax to be phased in over a 10 year period and work incentive and opportunity programs for those on welfare. "To assure that those who could provide for themselves would do so," he said.

Shriver said that "we proposed new and far-reaching initiatives in employment, individual improvement, community support and basic poverty research."

He said "the best hopes of the poverty program became casualties of a foreign conflict more than 10,000 miles from our shore. We have never waged a war against poverty comparable to the wars we have waged against people."

"The six-inch-thick document, dated June 30, 1966, was addressed to Charles L. Schultz, who was then budget director, over Shriver's signature. It was stamped 'administratively confidential.' 'Since I classified it, I think I can declassify it,' Shriver said during a meeting with reporters before his testimony."

Junior colleges support record

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

BOISE — The first session of the 42nd Idaho legislature raised state support for academic programs at junior colleges to a record level. It also approved building requests for both the College of Southern Idaho and North Idaho College.

The legislature approved $1.8 million in appropriations for the two schools, a figure that raises the level of support for academic programs to about 41 per cent, according to Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee. In addition, the legislature passed a permanent building fund construction package totaling $4.57 million, including $950,000 for the first phase construction of a $2.1 million vocational educational structure at CSI and $170,000 for the completion of a general science education building at NIC.

Lawmakers also approved a measure that would seek to eliminate the confusion that arose during CSI's trustee election last December, but balked at handling the schools' lump sum disbursement of state funding. The measures requesting those two changes had been proposed by junior college officials, according to Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee chairman.

Nixon assails Gray probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon accused Congress today of trying to hold I. Patrick Gray's confirmation as FBI director "hostage" by insisting that Nixon's counsel testify before the committee. He vowed he would never permit such testimony, even if it meant Gray's rejection.

"My decision has been made," Nixon told reporters at a White House news conference. He said John W. Dean III, counsel to the President, the Senate Judiciary Committee wants to question in connection with the Watergate bugging case, "has in effect double privilege" — that of the lawyer-client relationship as well as the executive privilege which the White House claims would block any presidential aide from testifying before the Congress.

Nixon challenged Congress to contest his position before the Supreme Court.

"If the Senate ... wants a court test we would welcome it," Nixon said.

He said his ban on presidential aides appearing before Congress extended to the bipartisan Senate committee headed by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., which will begin investigating the Watergate case and other charges of political espionage and campaign irregularities within a few weeks.

"Perhaps this is the time to have the highest court in the land make a decision on it ... we think the Supreme Court will uphold the separation of powers," Nixon said.

Nixon said he had heard that some senators "might hold Mr. Gray hostage to Mr. Dean's appearance." He said he would not knuckle under to such pressure, even if it meant a delay or defeat of Gray's nomination.

Nixon was responding to the challenge issued by the Judiciary Committee earlier this week when it called on Dean to testify and some members threatened to withhold Gray's confirmation until this was done.

Nixon claimed his administration had been more responsive to congressional requests for information "than any administration in my memory."

He recalled that during the Alger Hiss investigation, which he headed as a member of Congress, then-President Truman issued an executive order barring everybody in the executive branch from cooperating with the investigating committee in any way.

Nixon said he disagreed with Truman's decision, especially since the Hiss case concerned espionage against the United States, and for that reason he had directed members of his own administration to be more cooperative. But he drew the line at appearances before formal committees.

Peking post given Bruce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon appointed retired diplomat David K. E. Bruce to head the new U.S. mission in Peking which will open about May 1, the traditional Communist holiday.

As Bruce's deputies in the 20-person U.S. liaison office, Nixon named two of the government's top China hands. Alfred Jenkins, director of Asian Communist Affairs for the State Department and John Holdridge, the top Asian expert on Henry A. Kissinger's national security council staff.

Peking will set up a similar mission in Washington as part of an agreement reached by Kissinger on a trip to Peking in February.

Nixon noted that both Jenkins and Holdridge speak Chinese fluently. Both accompanied him on his trip to Peking last year which he said he considered "the beginning of a longer journey" toward peace in the Pacific and the world.

Under the terms of the liaison office agreement the missions will not be designated as embassies, thus stopping just short of formal diplomatic relations.

When the Chinese establish their liaison office in Washington, it will become the first formal mission established by the Communist government in the capital of a nation which recognizes the Nationalist regime on Taipei as the government of China.

The President announced the appointment of Bruce, Jenkins and Holdridge personally at the beginning of a 45-minute news conference, thus adding to the importance he attaches to the new mission.

Bruce, 75, has served as U.S. ambassador to Britain, Germany and France and he headed the U.S. Vietnam peace talk delegation in 1971 and early 1972 before retiring.

Indian hamlet chills

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (UPI) — Food, fuel and medicine were in short supply today in this tiny hamlet on the sprawling Pine Ridge Indian reservation, which militant Indians have occupied for more than two weeks.

A near-blizzard cooled off the armed confrontation between the 200 Indians occupying Wounded Knee, site of a 1890 U.S. cavalry massacre of 300-400 Indians in 1890, and federal officials relaxed a blockade of 300 U.S. marshals and Indian police ringing the tiny Oglala Sioux village.

Federal agents appeared eager to take control of the village away from the militant American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders who have occupied the village since 16 days ago.

"If they weren't Indians we'd have moved in already," an FBI agent said early today. "If they were something like the KKK (Ku Klux Klan), we'd have moved in a long time ago."

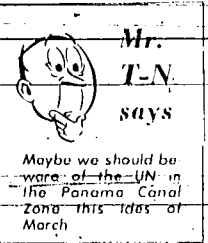

But a Justice Department spokesman said there were no plans to storm the settlement.

Stockpile sales set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has decided to sell some metals and commodities from the nation's strategic stockpile in an effort to curb the spiraling prices of industrial raw materials, administration officials said today.

The officials said the sale was intended to reinforce other administration efforts to check inflation.

Congressional authorization will be necessary for the sale of some materials such as copper, but administration officials said they were convinced sale of such things as aluminum, lead, zinc, cadmium and cobalt could be accomplished by executive action.

Gem exports key to farm incomes

By GEORGE WILLEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The president of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation said Wednesday expanded agricultural exports are the answer to maintaining farm incomes as federal subsidies are phased out.

W. Dale Rockwood said the Nixon administration is moving away from farm support programs and encouraging export programs.

"Our possibilities of getting a farm program with subsidies are being reduced all the time," Rockwood said. "In an agreement with this we can expand our export markets."

Japan, South America, Hawaii and Alaska all offer prime export markets, Rockwood said, noting that the Japanese have taken to western style foods, particularly beef and dairy products.

Rockwood said Idaho faces tough competition as an exporting state because of its geographical location. "Our freight costs are extremely high."

UN envoys talk

RUSSIAN UN Ambassador Yakov Malik (left) talks with Chilean Sub-Minister of Foreign Affairs Luis Orlandini at Panama City, Panama, prior to opening today of special session of UN Security Council. Session is expected to hear Panama's demand for end to 70 years of U.S. control of canal zone. (UPI)

Yield canal, Panama asks

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Panama strongman Gen. Omar Torrijos opened a United Nations special Security Council meeting today with a demand for an end to "colonialist" U.S. control of the Panama Canal Zone.

He said it was "difficult to understand how a nation (the United States) insists on maintaining a colony in the heart of our nations."

Directing his words to "the high leaders of the United States," the Panama National Guard commander said that Panama's struggle to gain jurisdiction over the canal — built by the United States — is now taxing the limits of the patience of our people.

Criticizing the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba and the U.S. position with regard to the copper companies in Chile, Torrijos said that Panama does not want to be "an associated state, a colony or a protectorate (of the United States) nor do we want to become another star on the flag of the United States."

The unprecedented council meeting was called to meet here by Panama to hear its complaints against continued U.S. control of the Canal Zone.

Hours before the 10:30 a.m. opening of the council, 300 minutes behind schedule, touchy preliminary protocol dispute between the United States and Panama was resolved.

It revolved around which nation should play host and guide members of the council on a tour of the Canal Zone.

Diplomatic sources said Panama originally wanted to take the delegates on a Panamanian yacht, the Pieta, with a Panamanian guide, through the locks.

The United States objected, saying it should have a role in the tour of the canal.

today in brief

Prison guards strike

WALPOLE, Mass. (UPI) — Walpole State Prison guards went on strike today to protest Corrections Department policies which they claim allow the inmates to run the facility. The strike by 240 guards began after state Corrections Commissioner John O. Boone read a statement that said any guard who does not work will be suspended for five days without pay.

Brick factory bombed

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen bombed a brick factory near Belfast today in the third day of what the British army said was an Irish Republican Army (IRA) bombing campaign. The factory was demolished.

U.S. Hanoi open talks

PARIS (UPI) — The United States and the North Vietnamese opened talks today on American aid to war-devastated North Vietnam, and both sides expressed satisfaction with their first contacts.

Truce violations hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon voiced grave concern today over truce violations by the North Vietnamese and served notice that the violations would not be tolerated by the United States.

The President told a news conference: "I would only suggest that in the light of my actions over the last four years ... North Vietnam should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern."

Downey's mother worse

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI) — The condition of Mrs. Mary V. Downey, 75, mother of Korean War spy John T. Downey, deteriorated today.

Mrs. Downey was hospitalized March 7 following a stroke. Hospital officials said she was in a deep coma and "the prognosis for survival is grave." Her son, 42, arrived at her bedside Monday after being released from 20 years confinement in Communist China.

'Blondie' creator passes

CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Murat B. "Chic" Young, creator of the comic strip "Blondie," died at Apollo Medical Center at St. Petersburg Wednesday at the age of 72.

He had been associated with King Features, Inc., since 1923. Young created "Blondie" more than 40 years ago as a gold digger trailing rich suitors. But the strip failed to catch on during the early depression years and Young switched to a new theme when he married Blondie off to Dagwood Bumstead on Feb. 13, 1933. The strip then was off and running.

"Blondie" now appears in more than 1,500 newspapers and in 16 languages.

Is Agnew A Help To The President?

WASHINGTON — The fact that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, facing increasing hostility at the White House, is entering a personal political crisis was indirectly but bluntly conveyed to him by one of President Nixon's senior staffers last week.

The White House staffer asked an Agnew aide this question: What can you honestly say the Vice President is doing in behalf of the President and the President's program?

Well, the Agnew man replied, we're improving our liaison with Congress, and that ought to benefit the President's program on Capitol Hill.

Not good enough, snapped back the Nixon aide. Agnew, he pointed out, has been almost totally silent of late, failing to speak up in behalf of the President in his great battles — on impoundment of funds, on reduction of federal social services, on attempts to curb congressional power. No, he concluded, Agnew has been no help at all.

A White House staffer would not dare criticize the Vice President in such remarkably outspoken terms without assurance that the President would not object. Moreover, the Nixon staff has seemed eager that this disapproving attitude be made known outside the White House gates — an attitude lethally corrosive to Agnew's still strong base among the Republican party faithful.

Among those conservative state leaders who comprise the backbone of the Republican party, Agnew remains the clear early frontrunner for 1976. John B. Connally, not yet turned Republican at this writing, is a distant second in their eyes.

But Agnew's strength at the grass roots derives almost wholly from Mr. Nixon's. Having failed to build up party alliances and friendships over the past four years, Agnew's prestige at the grass roots is now imperiled by the proliferating message of Agnew's low esteem at the White House.

So far, at least, this chill from the White House has not discouraged Agnew himself. His close advisers believe he has made a tentative decision to seek the 1976 nomination, which explains his refraining from the strident rhetoric that he must eliminate as his trademark in order to widen his political base.

As his aide told the White House staffer, Agnew is attempting to build links with Republicans on Capitol Hill — not really for the purpose of boosting Nixon programs but to seek political alliances. Within the last month, Agnew aides newly assigned to congressional liaison have paid visits to the party's congressional leaders to make a stand-by offer of Agnew's assistance and to open regular two-way communications.

Beyond this, Agnew supporters want him to start worrying about his new playboy image as Frank Sinatra's best buddy. They have advised him to avoid recurrences of his side-by-side appearance with Sinatra over national television a month ago at the Bob Hope golf tournament in Palm Springs.

If Agnew can actually do all this — tone down his rhetoric, build congressional alliances and bury the Sinatra program — his political advisers feel the cool wind from the White House will not make that much difference. They believe that a lame-duck Nixon will have little impact on the 1976 nomination and cannot conceivably sell the party a newly converted Connally.

But this view does not comprehend the precariousness of Agnew's present position. He is without government duties, having been stripped of his politically valuable function of liaison with the mayors and governors. He clearly is not in close contact with the President. And now the White House staff is eager to put out the word that he is not helping Mr. Nixon nearly enough.

About Amnesty

Most Western Republican Senators are taking a hard line against amnesty for young men who refused to fight in Vietnam, while their Democratic counterparts either believed the issue was premature or are content to leave it on the White House doorstep.

Official government figures place the number of young men who fled the country or went "underground" to dodge the draft at more than 5,000. However, other knowledgeable persons believe the number is in reality several times the official figure.

Reaction to the issue among Westerners on Capitol Hill varies from Republican Senator Barry Goldwater (Arizona), who an aide said is "absolutely against amnesty in any way, shape or form," to Democratic Senator John Tunney (California) who believes that those who fled the draft should be forgiven after performing some alternate public service. Tunney's press assistant reported his boss also believes that conscientious objectors who voluntarily went to court and were sent to jail should be pardoned now that U.S. involvement in the war has ended.

Closely aligned to Goldwater's stance are Republican Senators Clifford Hansen (Wyoming), James McClure (Idaho), Wallace Bennett (Utah) and Paul Fannin (Arizona) and Democratic Senator Gale McGee (Wyoming).

"I am opposed to blanket amnesty... each case should be judged upon its own merits as in the manner of handling any criminal matter under our system of law," said Hansen.

McClure, according to an aide, believes "the proper procedures are available for any boy who wants to come back and take his case to the courts. He is opposed to any special amnesty program."

Bennett's press aide says his boss is taking a "hard line... no unconditional amnesty and no conditional amnesty either at this time. Those who return should be prosecuted."

McGee, whose position appears to be harder than most of his Western Democratic colleagues, says he has "opposed amnesty while the young men were still fighting in Vietnam." In a letter to a constituent, the Wyoming Senator notes that "there are hundreds of... young men in jail for refusing the draft," and adds that "in the interest of justice," he opposes general amnesty.

Westerners who believe the issue should not even be seriously discussed until all U.S. POWs are home include Democratic Senators Frank Church (Idaho), Joseph Montoya (New Mexico), Alan Cranston (California), and Republican Senator Robert Packwood of Oregon. Church and Cranston, however, both have indicated their belief that individual cases might well merit special consideration for amnesty when the issue does come to a head.

Secret Weapon

It is obvious that the Pentagon's best brains have been put to work devising ways to make its all-voluntary concept work. They have already begun to employ a secret weapon which is almost guaranteed to create interest — greater participation by female warriors.

The assignment of women sailors to warships struck naval tradition as soundly as anything since Capt. Kidd's jolly roger was retired. That the Navy says it is completely satisfied with the innovation says something about its success at a recruiting aid.

Still to be worked out is the method of advertising for recruits to share a world-wide moonlit cruise with pleasant company without bringing down the wrath of the sailors' wives, or husbands, as the case may be.

Not to be outdone by its sister branch, the Army has taken what some will see as a still more drastic step. It has appointed its first woman commander to an all-male unit. The 34 men serving under Capt. Reba C. Taylor form a postal detachment in Germany.

MR. SPECTATOR

Great Plaything

Home movie buffs will be interested to learn that 1973 marks the 50th anniversary of the first practical motion picture equipment for amateurs.

It was in 1923 that Kodak Research Laboratories announced the culmination of many years of effort — the development of a reversal-type, nonflammable safety film.

What this meant was that the same film exposed in the camera could be processed with its image reversed from negative to positive for projection. Prior to that, movies, like still photographs, required costly positive printing from the negative.

The first amateur film was in 16mm size. Later came 8mm, putting movies within the financial reach of more millions, an event of which it can truly be said that never in the course of history did so many go to so much trouble to record so little.

A generation of Aunt Tillies and Uncle Bobs suddenly became paralyzed when asked to "act natural" for the movie camera, even as a later generation found itself struck dumb when asked to say something for the tape recorder.

The scene that didn't quite come out right became like the fish that got away, as countless long-suffering friends and neighbors could attest.

Seriously, on this golden anniversary of home movies, at a time when our craze for gadgetry is much criticized, let it be stated without cavil that this invention is still one of the most human and most joy-providing amenities technology ever bequeathed to everyone.

AIR FARES AND DOLLAR

Should airlines change their ticket prices as a result of the current uproar in the world's money markets and if so, how much? This is a problem for which the international airlines have been unable to find a satisfactory solution.

What makes this can of worms especially squirmy is that international air fares are generally based on the dollar and the British pound sterling. But with the dollar down substantially in comparison with the West German mark, for instance, if airlines keep the price the same dollar spenders get a fare cut and German mark owners must pay a higher price in their more valuable marks.

Thus, some new base would seem to be needed. But that runs into another problem.

The international flag carriers have been plagued by competition from the low-cost charter airlines and have been exerting steady downward pressure on prices to meet that competition.

Now they're caught in the middle. Chances are, whatever they do will cost them one way or another.

ANDREW TULLY

Care And Feeding

WASHINGTON — Some wise politician, preferable Richard Nixon, should take Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen aside and fill him in on the care and feeding of Congress.

As if poor Mr. Klassen wasn't in enough trouble with great masses of the citizenry over his horrible mail service, he has now managed to offend the folks who hold the purse strings. Obviously, they didn't tell Klassen about Congress when he was president of American Can Co.

At any rate, on a radio program the other day, just before Klassen appeared before the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, he broke the bureaucrats' 11th commandment. He said he didn't expect a warm reception on the Hill, then added: "I am not going up there for more money, so I really don't give a damn what the politicians say."

Unfortunately, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., heard the program on their radios even as they were heading for the committee hearing.

Randolph jumped Klassen as soon as he could wrest the microphone from Chairman Gale McGee, D-Wyo., and asked the Postmaster General to explain his remark. Flustered, Klassen said he didn't remember making the statement. But he was repeatedly harassed by Randolph and Hollings.

To repeat, poor Klassen considering his case, the private citizen will sympathize with his boo-boo. Congress is not universally admired throughout the Republic. Its membership is composed, willy-nilly, of politicians, and it is a national pastime frequently to look down on them and sometimes to call them names rarely uttered in mixed company. Congress either spends too much or too little. It can't win.

But Klassen is not a private citizen. Worse, he bosses up outfit that sometimes seems incapable of getting up in the morning. Indeed, if any government institution is less loved than Congress, it is the U.S. Postal Service. (The Internal Revenue Service? Most people hate that bunch only in April.)

Perhaps Klassen believed his was a special case in the realm of bureaucracy. The Postal Service, established 20 months ago, is a semiautonomous corporation which technically is not beholden to Congress. It is authorized to finance mechanization and other capital projects through bond sales and to negotiate contracts with mail workers. But as currently projected the Postal Service won't become self-supporting until 1984. Meanwhile, it must get most of the money needed for operating costs from Capitol Hill. There has been agitation on the Hill to take back the mail service which Congress oversaw for almost 200 years.

ART BUCHWALD

Pay And Eat

WASHINGTON — With the price of food going up every day, it is not inconceivable that banks will soon be making loans on an "Eat Now, Pay Later Plan."

This is how it would work. Mr. and Mrs. Kalabush go to their local bank and are escorted to one of the assistant vice presidents.

"What can I do for you?" the vice president asks.

"We'd like to make a loan," Mr. Kalabush says.

"For what purpose?"

"We'd like to borrow the money to buy five steaks for a dinner party you're having tomorrow night."

The vice president says, "That sounds rather expensive. We can make you a loan on hamburger or chicken without too much difficulty, but a steak loan is something else again. How much do you make a year?"

"$18,000," Mr. Kalabush says. "The reason we want to buy steak is that my mother-in-law and father-in-law are coming over and we consider it a good investment."

"I see," the vice president says. "What kind of collateral would you be willing to put up?"

"We have a 1971 Mercury that's all paid for." The vice president checks in his Blue Book. "But that would only pay for two steaks."

Mrs. Kalabush says, "I have here some stocks and bonds."

The vice president looks them over. "The car and the stocks and bonds are fine, but we're talking about beef now, and I'm afraid they just wouldn't cover the expenses of the dinner."

"Would you consider our car, the stocks and bonds and our house as sufficient collateral?" "How much is your house worth?"

"$30,000." The vice president does some fast figuring with a calculator. "That should cover a steak loan of this size. Of course you understand we couldn't give you the money for baked potatoes or a salad."

"That's all right," Mrs. Kalabush says. "We were going to sell our cabin on the lake to pay for the rest of the meal."

"What do we do now?" Mr. Kalabush asks.

The vice president says, "We'll send our meat appraiser out to your butcher shop this afternoon to look over the steaks and make sure they are as you described them."

"You won't take our word for it?" Mr. Kalabush asks.

"The banks have been burned very badly on steak loans. People come in here and say they want to borrow money on a porterhouse or a New York strip and they go out and buy a turkey. When you borrow this kind of money for steak we want to make sure you're buying steak with it."

"Now under our steak loan plan we require that you put 25 per cent down in cash and pay the rest over a 10-year period at 8 per cent interest."

"I didn't realize you had to put down that much cash," Mr. Kalabush says.

"Oh yes," the vice president replies. "We believe in this way we know you're serious about wanting to eat steak. Now if you wanted to make a catfish loan you wouldn't have to put down any cash."

"No," says Mrs. Kalabush. "We really want to buy the steaks."

"Good," the vice president replies. "As soon as we hear from our meat appraiser we'll notify your butcher that it's all right to deliver the steaks to you."

"Thank you very much," Mr. Kalabush says as he and Mrs. Kalabush get up. "We're very grateful for the loan."

"Don't mention it," the vice president says. "I think you've got a terrific investment. You never know what steak is going to cost in the future."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Burning Feet

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman, aged 49, and about six years ago I was aware of hot burning feet after my daily walks. It gradually worsened. An internist made tests, but they were negative. He suggested a neurologist who also found nothing but suggested nicotinic acid three times a day, which did not help. Last year another doctor said all he found was a low normal thyroid. So I began taking one grain of thyroid daily. Still no help.

I have tried elevating my feet and soaking them. I never sleep with my feet under the sheets summer or winter. They are always hot. Have you any suggestions? — L. B.

There are various causes of the misery of burning feet, but your three doctors evidently have explored most of them — such things as faulty circulation (that was what the nicotinic acid was for) and nerve disorders.

I have only a few further possibilities. A deficiency of vitamin B can cause this trouble. A look at your weight and usual eating pattern should help uncover that, if it exists. A daily portion of a vitamin B complex could then be tried.

A rare possibility of a vasomotor disorder called erythromelalgia — that is, an abnormal dilation of small arteries, especially those in the feet. That would require pretty sophisticated diagnosis and treatment.

Finally, if you are heavy, weight may be pinching nerves in the feet. A podiatrist might help in that case.

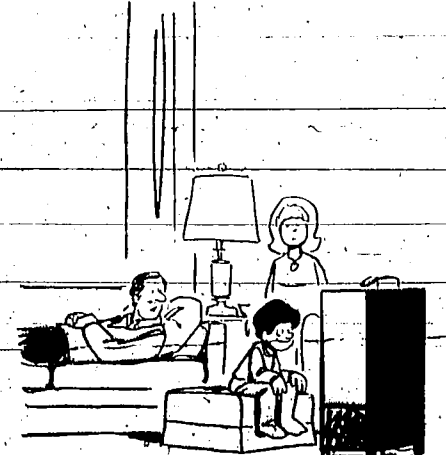

Fortunately the majority of cases are helped by the treating of the more common causes, but sometimes burning feet present a pretty baffling puzzle, as in your case.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Aspirin is prescribed for toothache, headache, colds and all sorts of pain. Is aspirin just a pain-killer, or has it some healing properties? — J.F.P.

Aspirin is primarily a pain-killer. However, it also reduces fever and gives evidence of having a cortisone-like effect. Hence its advantage in disorders such as arthritis.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Valley solons express opinions on legislature

By DWIGHT JENSEN

Times-News writer

BOISE — Public school funding and tax relief got the nod from most Magic Valley legislators as the most important things this legislature had accomplished.

The legislators expressed a wide range of disappointments as they saw the session draw to a close.

Here's a summary of what the legislators from the Magic Valley districts said when asked to name the major accomplishment of the legislature and their own biggest disappointment.

Sen. John Peavey (R-Rupert): The accomplishment was the recognition of the needs of public schools. Under Republican leadership, he said, the schools have been adequately funded so Idaho need no longer be 48th in the nation in teachers' salaries. His disappointment was the defeat of his no-deposit container bill and "the failure of the legislature to recognize this serious and growing problem."

Rep. Steve Antone (R-Rupert): The accomplishment was providing tax relief "for the first time since I've been here" and also moving closer to public school funding equalization.

The disappointment was that "we couldn't hold the budget down to more reasonable limits — but I am pleased with the funding of public schools."

Rep. E. V. McLean (R-Ketchum): Elementary education was funded properly and vocational education money for both buildings and curricula was increased. His disappointment was that "we've spent $22 million of the people's money in a place where I think it will mean tax increases on down the road, because I don't believe we're always going to have revenue sharing money."

Sen. John Barker (R-Buhl): The major accomplishment was "a step toward equalizing the public school formula, even though we went only forty percent as far as I hoped." Second on the list he puts the merger of three agencies into the new Department of Environmental and Community Services.

The disappointment was not getting out in 60 days. Barker operated his Health, Education and Welfare Committee so it could finish its work by the 57th day, but the rest of the legislature was not ready that soon.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft (R-Tuttle): He called this "a working session that made no astounding decisions," but said the event that might be most significant in the long run was acceptance of the plan for private financing of the American Falls Dam.

"We might decide we can finance such development with local and private funds," he said. His disappointment, he said, came when the legislature defeated the bill to limit the sales tax diversion to local government to 17.6 percent. "They failed to realize that the sales tax is outgrowing property and we need changes in the inventory structure. I support the replacement concept, but the amount of replacement should be kept in line with the realities of growth."

Rep. Earl Greenawalt (R-Jerome): The main accomplishment was the passage of House Bill 36, "making magistrate courts responsible to the people" through a system of Missouri-plan elections. His disappointment was the legislature's refusal to rescind the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Sen. James Yost (R-Wendell): The major accomplishment was "the close look we took at the educational system." The disappointment was that "we stalled all the major issues off until next year."

Rep. Bill Roberts (R-Buhl): The two big accomplishments were the start on reorganizing state government and "the effort to provide gains and progress to the educational institutions, especially the public schools through increased funding, while at the same time providing a measure of tax relief."

The disappointment was "the stumbling block we ran into by one group's effort to slow up progress to achieve their personal point of view, which resulted in delay of final action on appropriations even though our committee had been two weeks ahead in its work."

Speaker William Lanting (R-Hollister): The

major accomplishments were public school funding, establishing the government reorganization commission, increasing funding for vocational education, and providing for free enterprise construction of the American Falls Dam. Lanting listed no disappointments.

Sen. Richard High (R-Twin Falls): "The major accomplishment was 'adequate funding of education, particularly the public schools.' The disappointment? 'I haven't had any big ones. I would have liked to see the governor's mansion funded. The state of Idaho looks pretty sad when visiting dignitaries have to go to our present ramshackle shack and be entertained as visitors.'"

Rep. Ray Lincoln (R-Twin Falls): The accomplishment was "adequate funding of public schools." The disappointment was "the length of the session. We're going to have to figure out a different system of setting budgets. The length of the session depends on when the Finance Committee comes out with the figures. We have to work out a way to get those figures by mid-January."

Rep. Ralph Olmstead (R-Twin Falls): The accomplishment was tax relief. The disappointment was that the tax relief could not have been bigger.

Sen. Robert Saxvik (D-Burley): The accomplishment "affecting the most people was the consolidation of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health with the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services. That is important because it administers so many services and takes them to people who need them." The disappointment was "playing politics with the reorganization commission, and the reorganization of state government."

Rep. Ernest Hale (R-Burley): The major accomplishment was the funding of education. He said it would not be politically wise to talk about his major disappointment.

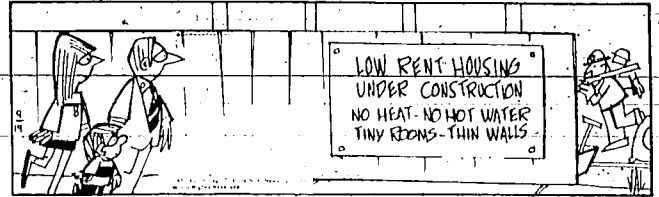

Rep. J. Vard Chatburn (R-Albion): The major accomplishment was "the fact that we stayed within the revenue-producing abilities of the legislature for once, and adequately funded public schools. That's the most outstanding thing in my memory of the legislature."

The revision of the surface mining act so it was not weakened but became palatable to the mining companies was also important.

He said there were no disappointments. "This has been the most harmonious and rewarding session I've attended."

Rep. Lee Barron (R-Corral): "There weren't many big accomplishments. My disappointment was that we can't control our spending any better. It's on the verge of runaway."

Rental awarded

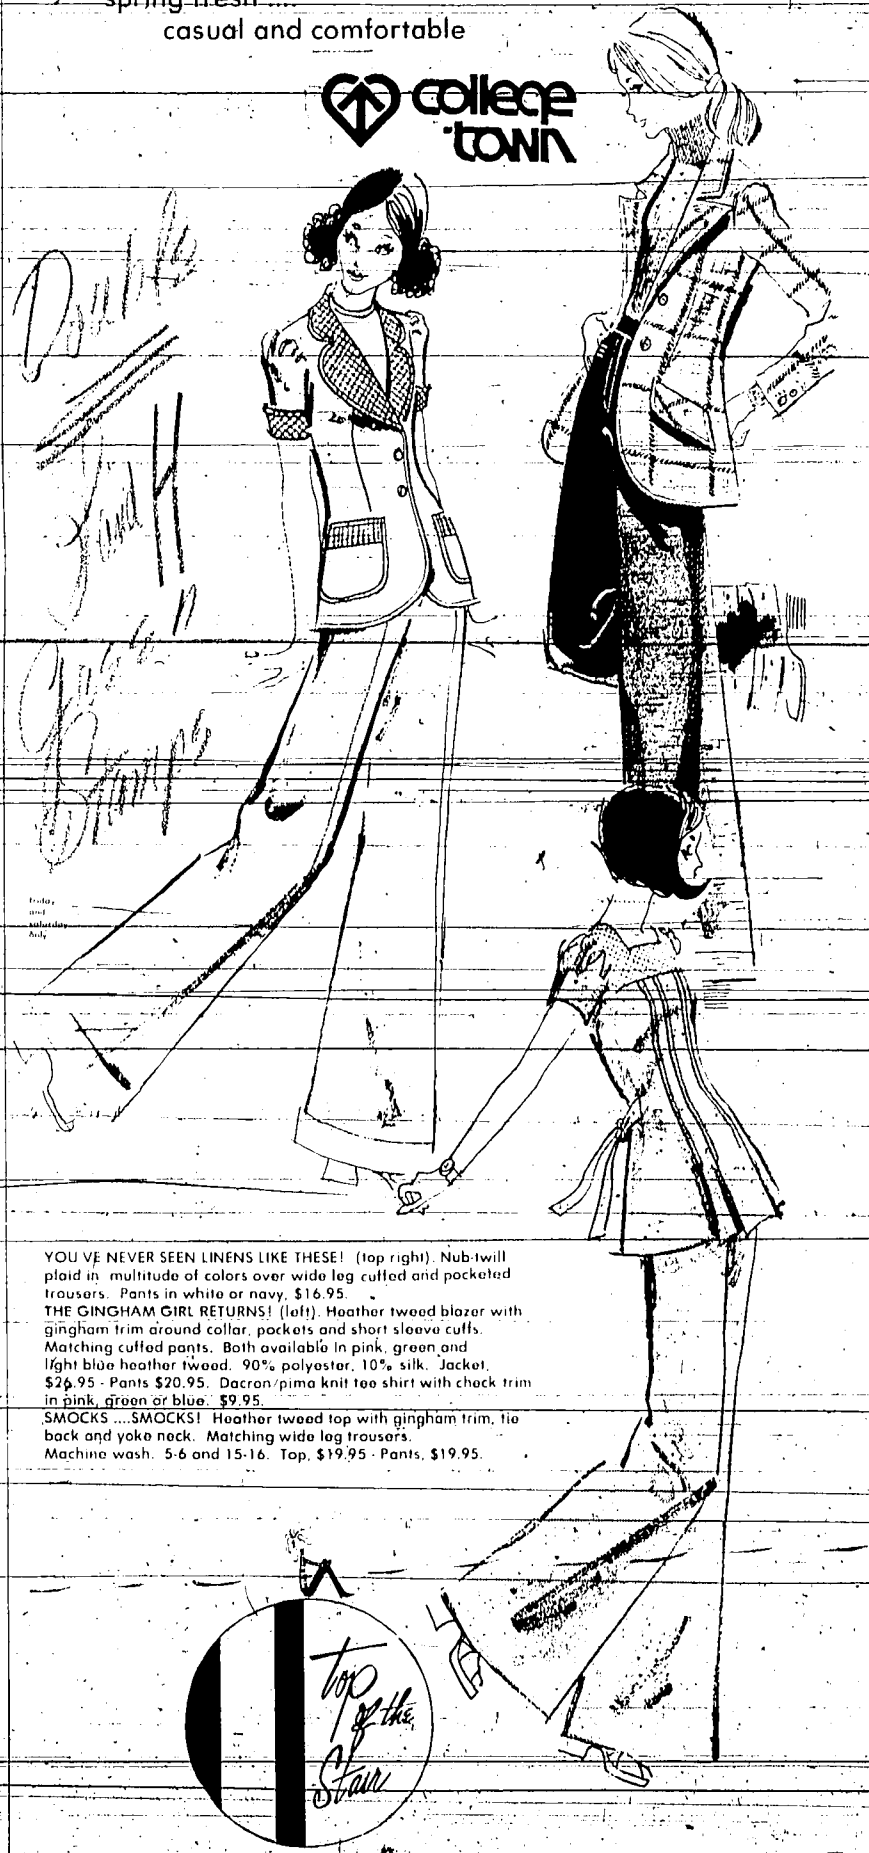

TWIN FALLS — Victor Nelson was awarded rental of 80 acres of county land near the city-county airport Tuesday afternoon.

County Commissioners said they received two identical bids of $500 per year from adjacent land owners. Chancy said the bid was settled by a "flip of the coin" and Nelson was awarded the rental.

The land has no water rights and was purchased for county land fill use.

Record state support for Idaho's junior colleges

The academic program support funds, which represent an increase of nearly $500,000 over the current year's amount, exceeds what Gov. Cecil D. Andrus requested by about $300,000.

The funding measure, which increases the percentage of state support to about 41 per cent from the current 36 per cent, encountered some problems in the House. But in a surprise vote, the measure was first killed, then reconsidered and then passed in the Senate, all in the space of less than an hour.

The vote in the House on the measure was 46-19, with Rep. Allan Larsen, R-Blackfoot, telling members the rate of increase for the junior colleges was more rapid than for many other state agencies.

The Senate defeated the funding package on its first vote, 16-17, with a number of lawmakers saying they were afraid the state was moving towards establishing more four-year institutions without realizing it and warning that the result of the move would be "inequality" in the state's educational system.

But Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan, who voted against the appropriations bill, moved to reconsider the measure, and after getting approval for the reconsideration, the Senate approved the $1.8 million figure on a 28-7 vote.

One lawmaker, however, Sen. Vern K. Brasse, R-Boise, said he hoped the legislature would not appropriate any money in the future to junior colleges until they came under the control of the State Board of Education.

The building funds measure, especially the nearly $1 million for the CSI structure, ran into difficulties before it hit the floor of both houses, but sailed through on votes with little debate.

The request for the vocational building at CSI, first made to the legislature three years ago, was not originally on the priority list drawn up by the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council.

But the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee reallocated the priorities, emphasizing education and vocational education at the expense of capital infrastructure. The committee's version of the permanent building fund construction list included $350,000 for the first phase of CSI's request and $170,000 for the completion of a building at North Idaho College.

The measure containing the projects totalling $1.82 million passed the House 64-1 on the next to last day of the session, and cleared the Senate 30-3 on the final day.

But before it reached the floor, the measure was attacked by Sen. John Evans, D-Mald, Senate Minority leader, who accused the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee of ignoring the requests of the advisory council and State Board of Education. Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, committee co-chairman, said he "categorically" denied the statements.

A measure to require candidates for junior college boards to run for specific seats passed both houses of the legislature easily in the session's early days. The Senate approved 30-0 and the House voted 60-0 to eliminate a problem that arose last December at the CSI trustee election when several candidates filed for two vacancies on the board, and became involved in a dispute about which candidate was running for which seat.

The measure has already been signed by Andrus and is in effect.

Another junior college-requested piece of legislation was introduced early in the session in the Senate, but then died in the Health Education and Welfare committee.

It would have given junior colleges lump sum disbursement of its state funds. But Sen. Dick Smith, R-Rexburg, former head of the State Board of Education, argued in committee that the change in procedure would establish junior colleges as privileged among state agencies.

Rim development study set by LWV

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls League of Women Voters met Wednesday night to discuss development of the Snake River Canyon in Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

After surveying the recreational sites along the canyon and discussing development possibilities, the women agreed that more research was necessary to reach a League "consensus" or official policy statement on planning and development.

Among the topics discussed was the Fasilino Plan for rezoning of Snake River area lands. League members noted that hearings on the plan will be held by the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission in the near future, and that indications were that the plan, the second proposal by an Idaho State University professor, would likely be approved within the next 60 days.

Under the Fasilino Plan, according to League presentations, most canyon rim property would be zoned for "outdoor recreation" which could include cabins, gas stations, camping facilities and single family dwellings.

League members also discussed a proposal by Lyndwood Realty to build a condominium and motel on the 33-acre former Bett-Karlow property, immediately south-west of the Perrine Bridge along Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

One League member said she would like to see a delay in the Lyndwood Realty development until the Fasilino Plan was adopted, because otherwise the realty firm, if its request for a zoning variance were approved, would not be bound by its preliminary plans but could construct whatever commercial developments it wished to on the property.

Also discussed was the possibility of a "green belt" park and recreation area along the canyon rim. The Boise River greenbelt park through the city of Boise was used as an example.

The women also discussed a proposal to establish a 1000 lot Springs National Monument along the Malad River Gorge.

Funding retains teacher program

Special to the Times-News

BOISE — The legislature approved general fund spending of $982,500 for the Gooding State School for the Deaf and Blind during its session.

In doing so, it retained a new itinerant teacher program which sends specially trained teachers throughout the state to help the visually handicapped learn to read.

The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee first set general fund spending for the agency at $891,000. The amount recommended in the governor's budget book, but school Supt. Edward Remy convinced the lawmakers to increase the figure to fund the itinerant program.

He also claimed that the funding level asked by the governor would leave some of the school's teachers without raises during the next year.

The general funds allocated to the schools are an increase of about $124,000 over the current year. The total agency budget, including federal and endowment funds and receipts to appropriations, comes to $1.05 million.

Gooding hospital off surplus list

Special to the Times-News

BOISE — The vacant tuberculosis hospital at Gooding was taken off the surplus state property list during the legislative session and transferred to the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services.

The legislature also appropriated $59,600 for the next fiscal year to SRS for the maintenance of the building, in addition to approving $19,600 maintenance funding for the remaining months of the current year.

The building, which had been surplus property for several years, attracted the eye of regional SRS Director Don Frank, who proposed it could be used in part for a child development center for Carnas, Lincoln and Gooding counties.

SRS commissioner John Marks gave his approval, and the State Land Board, meeting in January, approved the transfer of the structure for a period of two years.

The legislature went along with the move, transferring control and money for maintenance of the building to SRS, which is now part of the newly created Department of Environmental and Community Services.

The supplemental $19,600 appropriation was necessary when the decision was made to maintain the building as state property and not sell it to private interests, as had been considered.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, March 15, the 74th day of 1973 with 201 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Mercury.

The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Pisces.

Andrew Jackson, seventh President of the United States, was born March 15, 1767.

On this day in history:

In 1916, Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding 12,000 U.S. troops, was ordered to proceed to Mexico and capture revolutionary leader Pancho Villa.

In 1953, Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov, successor to Josef Stalin, claimed international dispute could be settled by peaceful means.

In 1969, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was found to be suffering from congestive heart trouble.

In 1970, Maj. Gen. Samuel Koster resigned as superintendent of West Point after he had been charged with suppressing information about alleged killing of civilians in Vietnam.

A thought for the day: British poet Alfred Lord Tennyson said, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

FDR's son reveals family scandals

NEW YORK (UPI) —Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt lived as husband and wife in name only after the first 10 years of their marriage, their son Elliott Roosevelt disclosed today in an article in Ladies' Home Journal.

In the article, a condensation of an upcoming book about his parents, Elliott Roosevelt blamed his mother's ignorance about contraception for the termination of the sexual side of her marriage after the birth of John Roosevelt in 1916.

"Mother had performed her duty in marriage, five living children were testimony to that," Roosevelt wrote. "She wanted no more, but her bland ignorance about how to ward off pregnancy left her no choice except abstinence."

"When my sister Anna was a young woman, Mother confided to her that she had gone into marriage totally ignorant of any method of contraception. Shyness and stubborn pride prevented her from seeking advice from a doctor or a woman friend."

Two years later, the late First Lady found proof that her husband had found solace elsewhere. She discovered love letters from her former social secretary, Lucy Mercer, in his suitcase when she was helping him unpack.

"Mother would have preferred a divorce," Roosevelt recalled. "That was her first thought, and her first move was to offer it... But Granny (Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt) held ironclad views about noblesse oblige and broken homes. If divorce were the answer she would cut off father's money as punishment for his offense."

Roosevelt said his father could not support two homes financially and divorce would have been political suicide in those days. So he gave up Miss Mercer, and the senior Mrs. Roosevelt continued to lavish money on her son.

"Mother, on second thought, preferred that choice," Roosevelt wrote. "She was willing to have him as a partner in public life, but never again as husband."

Roosevelt said he wrote the book, "An Untold Story: The Roosevelts of Hyde Park," because his parents, as described by history, "are scarcely recognizable to me... These legendary beings, immune to frailty and human passion are not the father-we-children-loved, nor the mother we respected."

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE — ON THE MALL

Car sales reach peak

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. auto industry, headed for its best first quarter in history, is finding it hard to keep up with customer demand for new cars.

So far this year, the four major auto companies have sold 1,749,882 cars — a hefty 17 per cent increase over the same period of 1972, which turned out to be a banner year. If they had a better supply, new car dealers say they could sell even more.

"We're producing every car we can produce in every line," says M.S. McLaughlin, vice president of the corporate marketing staff for Ford Motor Co. "We'll be short of practically all our cars for the duration of this model year."

Top auto executives at the end of 1972 were predicting sales of domestic and imported cars would hit around 11 million in 1973. If the record pace set in the first two months of the year continues, sales could easily hit 12 million, a figure not even the "most optimistic" analyst would have put forward two months ago.

The record number of persons visiting new car showrooms is pushing sales to record levels. The new car inventory at the end of February was a 51-day supply, the lowest in eight years. And it comes at a time when carmakers usually are building up a supply for the traditionally strong spring sales.

When the automakers Wednesday released their figures for the first 10-day period of March — a whopping 27.6 per cent increase over the same period in 1972 — they projected record sales for the January-March period that would be the 2,206,477 cars sold in the first three months of 1966.

General Motors topped the year-to-date by 33 per cent, American Motors increased its sales by 29 per cent, Ford by 25.1 per cent and Chrysler 11 per cent. Those figures mean new records in a bellwether industry whose every report has been a record for more than a year.

Gold hike asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClellan, R-Idaho, told a house committee Wednesday that if the official gold price had been increased some years ago, U.S. reserves would have automatically increased.

The Idaho Republican testified before the House Banking and Currency Committee which is considering legislation to devalue the dollar. McClellan urged that an amendment be attached permitting Americans to own and hold gold.

He criticized the Treasury

Department for permitting gold reserves to dwindle by more than two-thirds in recent years.

A more accurate and realistic revaluation to $105 per ounce would have meant an immediate gain of $60 billion in reserves and would have been met in world markets with greater confidence, no less, for the dollar.

He urged the committee to consider tying the official gold price to some economic barometer such as the consumer price index.

No rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) has repeated its statement that gasoline rationing will not be necessary this summer.

"Intentions are that gasoline supplies will be tight this summer but we do not anticipate at this time that the shortage will reach a stage which will require the implementation of rationing or enforced allocation," Acting OEP Director Darrell M. Trent said Wednesday.

Trent said federal agencies and departments do maintain contingency plans which include the possibility of rationing of fuel supplies in a declared national emergency, but he said "such action is not anticipated in the foreseeable future."

Horse, burro watch noted

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Director of the Bureau of Land Management says he will not tolerate harassment of wild or unbranded horses or burros on national resource lands in Nevada.

Ed Rowland said his warning was prompted by the roundup of wild horses in Idaho about two weeks ago.

Several horses were found dead by an investigative team. Officials of the Humane Society of the United States said there was positive evidence of inhumane treatment of the animals in the Idaho mountains.

Rowland said BLM staffers would keep watch over Nevada's scattered herds to prevent violations of the Wild Horse Act.

That law provides penalties of $2,000 fines or a year in jail or both for the "willful removal, death or harassment of wild horses and burros on national resource lands," Rowland said.

He said the Nevada BLM required proof of ownership including a release from the state brand inspector before a horse or burro could be claimed as private property.

He said permission to gather any horses on resource lands must be obtained in advance from the BLM District Manager.

Horse club to build

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Appaloosa Horse Club officials said Wednesday they expect construction to start soon on a new national headquarters building for the organization near here with completion set for Sept. 4.

The structure is being built on the Moscow-Pullman Highway near the Idaho-Washington State line.

Idaho bar to ask exam moratorium

BOISE (UPI) — The executive director of the Idaho State Bar says the group will petition the Idaho Supreme Court to delay any future bar exams until the court comes up with new ground rules for grading the test.

Ron Kull, Boise, made the statement Wednesday in light of a Supreme Court order this week to admit 34 more applicants to the bar after a review of the fall state bar examination. Of 88 applicants taking the test only 38 passed, and more than half of the 48 who did not petitioned the court for a review.

They contended they were maliciously, arbitrarily and capriciously denied admission to the bar. Three special masters appointed by the court reviewed the test and recommended that the 34 be admitted to the bar.

Kull released a statement by the board of commissioners of the bar, which grades the examination.

"We were shocked to discover that the method of examination and grading by the Idaho State Bar in the past 20 years under rules adopted by the Supreme Court were disregarded by the court after we completed grading the most recent bar exam," the statement said.

The court said it found no evidence for the petitioners' charges, but said grading standards and guidelines were inadequate.

Kull said the board of commissioners will petition the court to delay any bar exam until the court comes up with new procedures for grading.

"We did have a bar exam scheduled for April and we will give it if they can come up with the ground rules," Kull said. The bar said, however, it did congratulate and welcome those 34 new attorneys who join the bar as a result of the court action.

MR. AND MRS. KESI R. SEVERE

Miss Hamilton, Severe say vows

TWIN FALLS — Camille Hamilton became the bride of Kesi Randall Severe in March 1 rites at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Hamilton, Twin Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Kesi R. Severe, Rupert, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Following the marriage ceremony, the bridegroom's parents entertained immediate relatives at a wedding luncheon at the Ramada Inn, Salt Lake City.

The couple greeted reception guests at the LDS Stakehouse on Maurice St. N. Twin Falls.

The bride wore an empire-styled gown of pear-de-soie with a nylon chiffon overskirt and a Chantilly lace bodice. Her lace edged veil was held by a tiara crown of seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and pink carnations centered with a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Lesh Hamilton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Melanie Hamilton, sister of the bride; Leilah Thorneck and Carol Fry. Carrie Barrere, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Bradley Packard, Portland, Ore., was best man. Barry Hamilton, brother of the bride, and Jerry Grace were ushers.

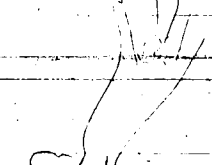

The bell-shaped wedding cake was suspended from an ivy covered frame trimmed with pink pom-pom chrysanthemums. It was displayed under a crystal chandelier on a glowing circular table covered with embroidered daisies.

A Lovellier You

A RING FOR HER' FINGER

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovellier writes: I have just become engaged to be married. My fiance wishes me to go with him to select a ring—a diamond solitaire. Selecting anything so precious is new to us both. Would you please advise us?

The Answer: The initial step is to go to a jeweler with an unimpeachable reputation. He will explain the qualities to be found in a fine stone. The Jewelry Council identifies those qualities as the "4C's."

The first of the 4C's is Cut. The conversion of a rough stone into a brilliant gem and the shape it takes. Traditional diamond shapes are round, emerald, pear, oval, and marquise. Your preference is an important consideration here.

Color is the next C. The most desirable diamonds have a crystal clear color, a purity of prismatic lights. Clarity—C—pertains to the inclusions or imperfections that occur in beautiful diamonds as a result of their formation in nature. They do not affect the stone's beauty when not visible to the naked eye. But they may decrease the value. A reliable jeweler, having spotted inclusions by his magnification loupe, will point out and explain them to you.

Carat is the last of the 4C's and is the standard measurement of weight. A carat divided into 100 points can be exemplified by a dollar divided into 100 cents. Be sure to ask the 4C question. Then your jeweler will be able to guide you to a happy choice.

Altrusa selects project

TWIN FALLS — A community service project was selected Tuesday evening by members of the Twin Falls Altrusa Club during a dinner meeting at the Colonial House.

The club will sponsor the Easter Seal Smorgasbord from noon to 4 p.m. April 15 at the Turf Club. The project, to benefit the Twin Falls Easter Seal Center, will be spearheaded by Mary Helen Perry, community service committee chairman, and Carolyn Pence.

Officers were elected. They include Tina Hill, president; Norma Herzinger, first vice president; Elaine Nesbitt, second vice president; Marie Sanders, treasurer; Adelle Stoddard, recording secretary, and June Pyater Brown, corresponding secretary.

Virginia Bancroft, president, was in charge of the business meeting. It was announced the group will sponsor a rummage sale March 30 and 31 in the basement of the Bon Marche and a cooked food sale in April. The next meeting is March 22 at the home of Mrs. Brown, with the group's March, April and May Girls of the Month honored.

Rillious Yates was a guest.

St. Pat's dinner scheduled

The Women of the Moose are planning a St. Patrick's day dinner and dance to begin at 7 p.m. Saturday, it was announced at a meeting Tuesday night.

Enrollment is scheduled for 7 p.m. and the dinner will begin at 8 p.m. followed by dancing at 9 p.m.

Serving as pro tem officers were Mrs. Gene Tyner, Junior graduate regent, and Mrs. Ralph Clark, pianist.

Mrs. George Long reported on Chapter Rally Day in Pocatello. Anyone knowing of a Moose member with a graduating son or daughter is asked to contact Mrs. Merlin Miller.

The Friendship girls progressive dinner has been set for March 24. The evening will begin with a social hour at 7 p.m. at the Virgin Malone home, followed by salad at the Merlin Miller home. The main course will be served at Ruby Murphy's home and dessert will be served at the lodge hall. A nominal charge will be made.

A cake and pie walk is planned after the March 27 meeting.

Fruits are popular as desserts in most countries, particularly those in the southern hemisphere.

KATHLEEN SNOW sets date

March wedding planned

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Unsworth, Farmington, Utah, and Hay H. Snow, Salt Lake City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Snow, to Sgt. Dennis D. Crane.

Sgt. Crane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Crane, Burley.

Miss Snow was graduated from LDS Seminary and Davis High School and was active in a cappella choir. Prior to her mission call, she was a member of the chorus for the Mormon pioneer musical, "Promised Valley," under the direction of Dr. Crawford Gates.

She served an LDS mission in California east and has been employed by the Davis County surveyor's office as a secretary since her return.

Crane attended Ricks College and completed a mission for the LDS Church in the California East Mission prior to his enlistment in the U.S. Army. He received special training at Ft. Sill, Okla., and has been stationed in Stuttgart, Germany, for the past 18 months.

The couple plans a March 23 wedding in the Salt Lake City Temple.

They will be feasted at a wedding breakfast to be given by the bridegroom's parents. Parents of the bride-visit will host a reception at the Rock Chapel in Farmington on March 23 and the bridegroom's parents will hold an open house at their home near Burley on March 24.

The couple will honeymoon in Germany, where they will live until October. They will make their permanent home in Burley.

Soroptimists give award

wins award

TWIN FALLS — Tara Meyers, Twin Falls High School senior, has been awarded first place in the annual Soroptimist Club youth citizenship cash award. She was awarded the $100 award by Mrs. Dollie Louder, Soroptimist president, at a meeting Tuesday night. Her application has been entered in Rocky Mountain region competition where $1,000 will be awarded. Miss Meyers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Meyers. Jacqueline Kasei, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kasei, Twin Falls, received second place and Debra Stastny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stastny, Murtaugh, was third place winner. Each of the winners told about school, home and citizenship activities while receiving their awards.

The Awards of Merit are made to young men or women graduating from high school in this area. Winners are determined after applications are judged on the basis of service, dependability, leadership and sense of purpose. Judges for this year's awards were Herbert Van Slyke, College of Southern Idaho business manager; Dr. Bruce Harfison, CSI professor of literary science, and Douglas Bashaw, Filer High School teacher and counselor. Mrs. Louder announced that Leanne Olmstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olmstead, has been selected the club's representative to Syringa Girls' State in Nampa in June. Projects approved by the club include furnishing needed items for the senior citizens facility.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago, when I was a single man, I was doing some work in the home of a very attractive woman—(Painting and decorating.) She was very friendly and always went around in a thin robe and nothing underneath. Over coffee one morning she told me how unhappy she was (sexually) with her husband. It turned out we had an affair which lasted about two months in the afternoon when her husband was working and her kids were in school. It was no big love affair. It was just fun for both of us and I never saw her again.

I made the big mistake of bragging about it to a few of her neighbors, and one of them must have told her husband after all these years because he tracked me down and called up my wife and told her everything. Now my wife is giving me a hard time, even tho we weren't married (but were going together) when all this took place.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Lancelot, the peerless knight, thought nothing of going into battle against as many as nine lesser knights at a time. In fact, he thought that only equalized matters a trifle.

Today, we find him in a really tough spot. He is playing in the Lancelot pairs with Sir Dinadan, an almost certain loser in knightly combat and even worse at bridge.

The only good feature of Dinadan's game was that he did try to get the dummy play into Lancelot's capable hands, but there was no way for him to transfer the play of this spade slam.

Not that there was much difficulty in the play. Dinadan ruffed the diamond lead; played out four rounds of trumps to make really sure that all were out and then took a heart finesse.

The finesse worked because the wily Mordred, sitting East, held back his king. "Sorry, Lance, old boy," said Dinadan, "I didn't bid enough."

Lancelot felt a twinge of rheumatism in an old wound. He knew Dinadan was at his worst when he talked. Sure enough, Dinadan ruffed the last diamond and took a second heart finesse.

This time Mordred was ready with the king and the slam was just as dead as most of Lancelot's battlefield opponents.

'Bragging' mistake

Maybe it's a coincidence, but last week two strange men jumped me and gave me a terrible beating.

Abby, I can't understand why this man would want to make my life so miserable for something that happened ten years ago. Can you?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Either he just found out about it or just found YOU. There are some valuable lessons to be learned here. Men who work around women should keep their minds on their work. And those who don't should keep their mouths shut.

DEAR ABBY: When I give a dinner party I do as much as possible in advance because I have no help and I like to spend the cocktail hour with my guests.

What gets me is the well-meaning guest who surprises me with something for my dinner to "help out." It is invariably something which requires a lot of fooling with, like a mold for which I have to hunt up a suitable serving platter, and then unmold it, or a loaf of unsliced French bread from which I am supposed to make garlic bread.

I hate to sound like an ingrate, but please, Abby, tell these people who are thoughtlessly thoughtful that if they want to bring something to please bring it ready to serve.

BOLLOXED IN BOTHELL

DEAR BOLLOXED: Will do. And that includes sweet corn, husks and all, freshly picked from "our" garden. Or worse yet, home grown spinach.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was seriously ill with tuberculosis when she was 17 years old. She made a complete recovery and thank God, she is a healthy girl now. Her boy friend stood by her and loves her all the more; but his mother is trying to break them up. She insists that once a person has tuberculosis they are never cured.

These two young people are very much in love and plan to marry one day, but the boy's mother is giving them a hard time.

My daughter's doctor told me that she was cured. How can I get this message across to that boy's mother?

GRATEFUL MOM

DEAR MOM: I suppose you could have the doctor put it in writing. If the boy's mother wants to break up the romance she will have to come up with another excuse. The one she is using isn't valid.

DEAR ABBY: What does a normal, healthy 34-year-old male with a wife and family say to his parents when they send him a POORSE as a gift, with the excuse that it is a very useful man's item in a country they just visited? Sign me

NOT A GAY LIBBER

DEAR NOT: If he is indeed a "normal, healthy 34-year-old male" etc. he says, "Thanks!"

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., said today that the American Independent Party is leading opposition to ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Mrs. Griffiths, who engineered congressional passage of the proposed constitutional amendment to forbid sex discrimination, told a news conference:

"The truth is that there is not a person in the opposition who cares whether the ERA is ratified or not. I really think they are using women to organize them for another purpose."

In response to a question, she said, "The American Independent Party is opposing it most vehemently. They are using it to organize women as a counterforce to the Democratic and Republican parties."

The amendment is in danger of being rejected by the states. So far, 28 of the 38 states required to ratify the amendment have approved it. One or both legislative branches in 12 states have rejected it. Vigorous battles are being waged in the remaining states, particularly in what Mrs. Griffiths called the "southern Bible belt" where Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama ran strong for President on the American Independent Party ticket in 1968.

Hazelton ponders plans on library

Hazelton — Procedures for obtaining improved library service in the community were discussed at a meeting here Tuesday night.

Arvan Call, director of Region IV libraries and Twin Falls librarian, met with several interested residents at the home of Mrs. Keith Huettig, Hazelton. Marilyn Jardine, Twin Falls, regional library assistant, aided in answering questions.

Call pointed out that there were different ways to bring library service to the area. The main point he stressed was that of formation of a library district. Some of the alternatives to be used within the formation of the district are library service through a deposit collection of books in several different locations, a centrally located library, or bookmobile service.

Another possibility mentioned was to work with the school in the formation of a school-community library. It was suggested that the Valley school district boundary could be used as boundary of the proposed library district.

The first step to be taken would be to circulate petitions and would require signatures in favor of the proposed district of at least 51 per cent of the number of residents who cast votes in the last gubernatorial election, Call said. It is not known how many signatures this would be at the present time.

The petition would then be presented to the county commissioners, and they would have six weeks to have a public hearing on the matter. If they were in favor, a board of library trustees would be set up and specific plans for library service could get under way.

Idaho Code specifies that a maximum of two mills be levied for use of a library district, Call said.

He noted the success of the two most recent library districts in the region that were now in operation — the Minidoka-Acequia library district which has contracted with the Twin Falls Library for bookmobile service, and the Camas County Library District in Fairfield.

The Camas County Library began operation within the past month. The library has a large book selection, deposited from the regional library in Twin Falls. This collection will sustain the library until funds from three-fourths of one mill levy come in.

The Minidoka-Acequia district has levied the full two mills, Call said.

Mrs. Ken Dixon, former Richfield Library District librarian noted the progress the library had made since it began the district in the fall of 1967.

Mrs. Huettig and Mrs. Kenneth Visti, Hunt, were appointed to speak to members of the Hazelton Lions Club about the project and solicit possible help in circulating petitions. The Lions group showed interest in some type of library improvement project at their February meeting, Call said.

Call invited those attending to the regular regional library meeting at the Buhl Public Library at 10 a.m. March 29. The meetings are usually held at Twin Falls, but will be relocated this month, due to the remodeling going on at the Twin Falls Public Library.

He said that retired Twin Falls librarian Robert Bruce Pasco Robles, Calif., is planning to attend the meeting. Miss Jardine and Annie Laurie Burton, publicity director at the Twin Falls Library, will discuss plans for National Library Week.

Racers honored

ERNE STEVENSON, Gooding, is presented the cutter trophy by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fought, Twin Falls.

Trophies given by cutter unit

JEROME — The Muir, president of the Magic Valley Cutter Association, announced today the top winners in the associations yearly competition.

Taking top place was Ernest Stevenson, Gooding, who was awarded the traveling trophy which is donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fought, Twin Falls. The trophy must be won three times in a row by a participant before they are able to keep it, Muir said. Second place in aged horses went to Morris Nielson, Gooding, and third place went to the team of Muir and Clyde Hansen, both Jerome.

Taking first place in the 2-year-old class was the Half Way Ranch, Jerome, owner Ray Chuggs with Tom Webb, driver. Second place was awarded to Robert A. Robinson, Tuttle, and third place to Wayne Thompson, Jerome.

Extension club meets in Filer

FILER — Town and Country Home Extension Club members related their favorite likes about spring at the home of Mrs. John Ortel.

Mrs. Wayne Lincoln was assistant hostess for the Tuesday evening meeting. The club voted to help sponsor a delegate to Girls' State this spring, and also to purchase toys for the children's ward at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Richard Tucker and Mrs. Ruth Dunos will represent the club in helping make the name tags and favors for the district meeting in Gooding. Mrs. Loren Anderson will host the April 12 meeting, assisted by Mrs. Leroy Kohntopp.

the Cancer Society, Red Cross, Heart Fund, 4-H, Easter Seal, CARE, National Grange Youth and State School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding.

Officers training slated on Monday

KING HILL — An officers training program for Grange officers will be held Monday in the Odd Fellows Hall in Mountain Home. Grange members were advised here.

State officers will occupy all of the stations and King Hill officers will be attending.

In the Tuesday night meeting of the King Hill Grange, Richard Biner was accepted as a new member and the 1973 Grange committees were appointed.

Committees include Rodney Robbery and Robert Lewis, agriculture; Karl Anderson and Howard Pugmire, membership; T. M. Timbers and Fred Whitehead, community service; H. J. McKee and Arthur Greer, legislative; and Mrs. Cecil Bolt and Mrs. T. M. Timbers, fair queen.

The charter was draped in a ceremony directed by Mrs. Horace Lipe, chaplain, for Mrs. Florence McMillan.

Donations were made from Grange card party proceeds to

Cowbells set Bliss meeting

SHOSHONE — The Purple Sage Cowbells announce a meeting for May 12 in Bliss.

All interested women in the promotion of the use of beef are encouraged to participate in the Purple Sage Cowbells meetings. Dues for the four-county group are one dollar a year, with state dues $2 and national dues $3.

Mrs. Virginia Mink is conducting beef demonstrations in home economics classes of the high schools and other beef promotion projects are being planned.

The organization has pamphlets to distribute at any time to anyone and beef broth packets to sell at a minimal cost.

At a meeting held in Shoshone this week, Mrs. Smilie Wilcox was hostess. Mrs. Walter Gardner, Richfield, became a new member.

Lincoln reports poster winners

SHOSHONE — Berkley J. Ward, Richfield, has won first prize of $5 with his safety poster entry in the annual farm Bureau poster contest in Lincoln County.

Dentse Michelle Aja, Richfield, was second place winner, receiving $3 and Mike Lyle Piper, third, $3.

Mrs. Ward Mills, county women's chairman, announced the winners, after the judging by Mrs. M. E. McKendrick and Mrs. Dorothy Clayton.

There were 15 participants in the contest, ages 9-12, all students in the fourth and fifth grades, taught by Mrs. Frances Friestad and Mrs. Melvin Pope, Richfield schools.

Entrants are grouped and judged according to grade in school: fourth through sixth and seventh through 12. Judging is on eye appeal, message impact, slogan, originality and neatness.

Winning poster of each county is sent to the State women's committee, Pocatello, and judged. Prizes for winners of the two groups, are awarded cash and saving bonds ranging from ten dollars to $100.

2 couples obligated in grange

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. Evan Guthrie are new Fourth Degree members of the Magic Grange.

They were obligated in the fourth degree at a meeting held at the Grange Hall, north of Shoshone.

Mrs. Ira Kistler, Gooding master, presented a gift, a new Bible, to the Shoshone Grange. The gift was from the Gooding grange.

Over 20 members of the Kimberly Grange attended the Shoshone Magic Grange meeting and presented the traveling flag to them.

Shoshone, now, will take the flag to Upper Big Wood River Grange at Hailey on March 23. A reading "Country Flag" was given and information on displaying the flag were given by Mrs. Fred Moore.

Mrs. Louise Wall and Mrs. Rosemary Wall, Kimberly, sang several numbers. Dean Barney, Pomona Master, spoke briefly and William Kerner Jr., master, thanked Kimberly members with Jim Messersmith giving the response.

Mrs. Lawrence Tows and Mrs. Ed Sheer served refreshments.

Twister kills one

SPARTA, Tenn. (UPI) — One man was killed when a tornado ripped through White County early today and at least 45 families in two other Middle Tennessee counties were forced to evacuate because of flash floods.

W.J. Whitson, a spokesman for the Sparta police department, said that Jack Hill, a night watchman for a clothing manufacturer in Sparta, was buried beneath debris in the plant. He died before reaching a hospital.

Power lines were down and roofs were torn off several houses, Whitson said, and a tobacco barn was destroyed.

Three other persons were injured when their Taft community home in White County was hit by high winds associated with the twister.

Many county officials reported many homes were heavily damaged in the city of Columbia, but there were no reports of injuries.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said about 20 families were evacuated in the Sandy Hook community and another 20 from a subdivision in Columbia.

The Lawrence County sheriff's department said about five families were evacuated from a low lying area near Summertown.

Rebekahs donate to delegates

FILER — Miriam Rebekah Lodge members voted a donation to Girls' State delegates at their Tuesday evening meeting in the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Irene Childers was appointed in charge of obtaining new subscriptions to the International Rebekah Magazine, as well as renewing present ones.

Mrs. Richard Edwards, lodge deputy, will make her official visit to the lodge March 27. All officers are requested to wear formal that night. The date for the barbecue dinner has been changed to March 31.

A fund-raising Tupperware party will be held at 9 p.m. April 10 at the hall with all interested people invited to attend. It will follow the regular 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Genevieve Crawford, Mrs. Leo Ross and Mrs. Russell McCauley.

'Pick' had memorable sense of humor

By GALE SAVERS

When I first saw Brian Piccolo at the Chicago Bears' football practice back in 1966, I didn't think he would make the team.

"Pick" was not very big and fast, but he hung in there with determination and became a solid mid-field player.

The great thing about Pick was his sense of humor.

The best thing about our relationship as it developed was that we could kid each other all the time about race.

So when in 1967 the coaches began pairing roommates who played the same position, it was logical that Pick and I room together. When sports writers began trying to make a big deal of the black-white angle, we just joked about it.

It was during the '69 season that Pick's cough began. It wasn't much at first but it got worse as the season entered the cold months. The doctor took an X-ray of his chest.

"Brian's very sick," he said. "He's got a malignant tumor in his chest that has to come out."

The night before the Baltimore game, Mr. Halas, the team's owner, called me. He said, "Gale, I think maybe you ought to say something to the team before we go out tomorrow. Try to dedicate the game to Brian. After our warm-up, Coach Jim Dooley told the team, "Gale has something to say to you."

I just said, "As you all know, Brian Piccolo is very, very sick. He might not ever play football again. So I think each of us should dedicate ourselves to winning this ball game and give the game ball to Pick. Then we can all sign the ball and take it up to him."

About this time, they probably didn't understand me, because I had started to cry. We played good ball, and we should have won the game. We lost it. I felt rotten.

Lenten Guideposts

After the game, I went to the hospital to see Brian. He was still in fine spirits. I found it hard to believe this terrible thing had struck him down. But he just said, "It's a tumor and it's got to come out, and it's got to come out now."

Dr. Edward Beattie told Pick the tumor figured to be the size of a baseball. When he got it out, it was closer to a grapefruit.

After coming home from the hospital, Pick naturally took it easy for a while.

When I got back from the Pro Bowl game in Los Angeles, I called him. Piccolo was jovial as usual.

"I missed the first half," he said. "I was at a meeting at the country club. But somebody there had been watching it and was saying what a great game Sayers was having. So when I got home, I turned on the television. As soon as it goes on, the nigger fumbles. That's when I turned you off. Typical nigger play."

I couldn't stop laughing. "You're terrible," I said. "You're so bad. You're as big a racist as ever."

The next time I talked to him he was going back to New York for more tests. There was a lump on his chest. They had to operate again.

As much as they cut into this man, as much as he was afflicted with terrible pain and discomfort, his spirits would not be destroyed. This was the beautiful nature of Brian Piccolo.

At the end of May, I came to New York to attend the Professional Football Writers' annual dinner and receive the George S. Halas Award as the most courageous player in pro football, because of my comeback from knee surgery. At least I could tell the audience about Brian Piccolo.

"He has the heart of a giant," I said, "and that rare form of courage that allows him to kid himself and his opponent — cancer."

I concluded by saying, "You flatter me by giving me this award, but I tell you that I accept it for Brian Piccolo. It is mine tonight. It is Brian Piccolo's tomorrow. I love Brian Piccolo, and I'd like all of you to love him too. Tonight, when you hit your knees, please ask God to love him."

Tuesday morning, June 10, 1970 Brian Piccolo died.

The only thing I remember about the funeral service was one line: "The virtuous man, though he dies before his time, will find rest."

As soon as the service was ended, Joy, Brian's wife, came over and I told her how sorry I was.

"Don't be sorry, Gale," she said. "I'm happy now because I know Brian is happy, and I don't have to watch him suffer anymore. He's through suffering now."

She comforted me, and I said to myself, "If she can be that composed, Brian must have really given her something."

And I thought, "Well, he gave us all something, all of us who knew him."

'Footprints' plan TF appearance

BYU choral group due

TWIN FALLS The still worth fighting for." Footprints, a 44-member choral group, will perform at the Twin Falls Stake building at 8 p.m. Friday.

The group is sponsored by the Brigham Young University detachment of the Air Force ROTC and is made up of men and women students from the university.

The singers were well received in a Twin Falls appearance two years ago.

The Footprints' purpose is "to demonstrate that America is Composed of young ROTC cadets and "angels" from the Angel Night, the group presents a vocal program emphasizing patriotism.

Tickets for the one and a half hour performance can be obtained at the door or at the following businesses: Crowley Drug, Zesto Drive-In, Van's Department Store, Sullivan's Music and Bingham's Milky Way in Twin Falls and McCleery Drug in Jerome.

Course funds asked

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Nampa educators are planning to apply for federal funds for a bi-lingual program that would lead to voluntary desegregation of the city school system.

Supt. Rex Engelking said the plan is to provide basic instructional and supportive service to reduce, eliminate or prevent minority group isolation, racial tension or conflict in the schools.

Military goods embargo relaxed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced Wednesday lifting of its embargo on the sale of military equipment to India and Pakistan, permitting them to acquire "nonlethal equipment plus spare parts" for equipment previously supplied.

A State Department spokesman, Charles W. Bray, said, "In our judgment this decision cannot be construed to have a significant effect on the ratio of military power as between India and Pakistan."

The embargo on military sales was imposed in 1965 following the India-Pakistan war.

The embargo was not absolute and, in 1966, the United States permitted the sale of "nonlethal end items" and ammunition to both countries. In 1967, the United States temporarily lifted the embargo as a "one-time exception" to Pakistan.

The full embargo was then reimposed in December, 1971.

Bray told newsmen the action came at the direct request of the Pakistani government.

U.S. officials acknowledged privately that the United States was concerned about maintaining an even-handed policy while not permitting Pakistan to lie at a disadvantage with India which is the militarily stronger country.

Officials noted that Pakistan had been primarily supplied with military equipment by the United States and that its arsenal was dependent on continuing supplies of spare parts.

The decision will permit Pakistan to take possession of 300 armored personnel carriers for which it had contracted in 1970 and made a down payment.

CHARLES D. HOWARD
... honored

News Of Servicemen

TWIN FALLS — Charles D. Howard, Twin Falls, was awarded this week the US Air Force Distinguished Flying Cross.

The award was presented to Howard for "extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight Jan. 22, 1971." According to the citation, Capt. Howard flew a night emergency evacuation of two critically wounded personnel using airborne radar and under heavy mortar and rocket attack. At the time, Howard was a C-130H navigator for the 50th Tactical Airlift Squadron at An Khe Special Forces Camp, Vietnam.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Howard, Twin Falls, and a graduate of Twin Falls High School and the University of Idaho. He and his wife Mary Lou, are the parents of one daughter.

Howard is a partner in Edwards and Howard Engineers, Twin Falls.

BURLEY — Second Lt. Kenneth C. Abney has completed marine schooling in environmental indoctrination at Pensacola, Fla.

The training included aerodynamics, aviation physiology, engineering, and land and sea survival. His wife is the former Marilyn Weed, Burley.

KETCHUM — PO3 Walter C. Pyne was on the first aircraft carrier to leave Vietnam after the cease fire agreement and has returned to his Navy homeport in Alameda, Calif.

He is a former student at Wood River High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art E. Pyne, Ketchum.

HAILEY — Seaman Larry G. Fife is a recent graduate of recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fife, Hailey.

RUPERT — Air National Guard Airman Ronald K.

Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Tanner, Rupert, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the US Air Force cable splicing specialists course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Tanner, now qualified to test and seal communications cable systems, is returning to his Utah ANG unit in Salt Lake City. A 1968 graduate of Minidoka County High School, the airman attended Utah State University.

TWIN FALLS S. Sgt. Jessie L. Black, son of Mrs. Nellie D. Black, Twin Falls, has re-enlisted in the U.S. Air Force after being selected for career status.

Sgt. Black, a heavy equipment mechanic at Minot AFB, N.D., was approved for re-enlistment by a board which considered his character and job performance. He is assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command, America's nuclear deterrent force of long range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

His wife, Leona, is the daughter of Mrs. Fay Porter, 209 E. 15th, Pittsburg, Kan. His father, J. R. Black, resides at Twin Falls.

BURLEY — U.S. Air Force S. Sgt. James S. Sewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay M. Sewell, Jamestown, Tenn., has arrived for duty at McChord AFB, Wash.

Sgt. Sewell, a communications equipment technician, is assigned to a unit of the Air Force Communications Service.

Workshop to provide jobs for MV handicapped

TWIN FALLS — A sheltered workshop was formally incorporated Wednesday to provide jobs for mentally and physically handicapped workers.

The formal incorporation took place at a meeting at the Twin Falls Child Development Center.

According to Tony McNevin, director of adult services for the Magic Valley for the Idaho Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, the program will allow handicapped persons to become "self-sustaining to the level permitted by their abilities."

The workshop, to be housed in the former Gooding TB hospital, will provide jobs for about 10 workers initially. The program may be expanded eventually to a potential maximum of 400 workers — the SRS's estimate of potential clients in the Valley area.

The workshop, named Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services Inc., will be a nonprofit organization.

Directors were chosen, involving Edd Bossard, Twin Falls, chairman; Robert Coiner, Twin Falls, vice chairman; Treasurer William Oakley, Gooding, and James T. Jones, Eden; Bert Lassen, Twin Falls, and Kenneth Frank, Burley.

The corporation appointed James Teater, Eden, an SRS employee, as business manager for the workshop.

According to McNevin, the workshop will enter contracts with local businesses. One typical contract will involve making warehouse pallets.

The handicapped workers will be paid on a sliding scale according to their abilities, with the top of the scale in the range of the $1.60 minimum wage. When a worker is able to earn a minimum wage, he becomes a candidate for job placement in the competitive job market outside the shelter workshop.

Workers will be based from their homes to work at Gooding. The buses and other work equipment is to be purchased by a $20,000 grant expected to be approved by the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, McNevin said. Initial operational funding will come from the SRS.

The salary for the business manager initially will be paid by the State SRS, but will be assumed later by the workshop in the near future.

The workshop also will lease the portion of the Gooding hospital to be used.

According to McNevin, there is a good possibility that other workshop centers can be set up, perhaps in Burley, when job contracts can be arranged there. He said the long-distance busing cost could be reduced by the decentralization.

The workshop costs, to include both the handicapped workers and professional ancillary personnel, will be supported from two sources.

First, the contract receipts should pay for the wages of the handicapped workers.

Additionally, the salaries of the professional workers will be indirectly paid by the SRS and the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation through contracts in which the two state agencies pay for the services provided to the handicapped workers by the professionals.

In McNevin's view, the establishment of the workshop is part of a trend in which handicapped persons who might otherwise have been institutionalized — are brought back to their home communities in some productive capacity.

"It reduces the institutional population of the state to a pretty good degree, and will cost considerably less to the taxpayer than institutional services," he said.

"Also it provides means of training a handicapped worker so that in a period of time he can become a worker in the competitive market in the community."

He said the workshop is patterned after similar workshops set up elsewhere in the state which have been successful. There is no in-state geographical limit set on who is eligible to receive the services.

But, he said, "We won't be able to handle some handicapped," including the most severely handicapped and, initially, persons with special problems, such as deafness.

He said the workshop will employ both men and women.

"I'm not sure how many people are in Nampa State (School and Hospital) from this region. The goal is as far as possible to bring these people home again, set them up as independent as possible within the community."

"We're moving slowly so we don't make any major mistakes," he said.

Nuclear air transport studied by Gem bureau

Rockwood said in an interview the vegetable industry, the dairy farming and feeding industries were also rapidly increasing in Idaho.

"We're seeing the vegetable industry moving out of California because of the urban sprawl and some of the labor problems they've had. We think there is a potential, maybe in this area of the state through the Boise area for vegetable production, provided we can make a living. It's all competitive. You've got to compete in the ball game."

Rockwood said Idaho farmers and ranchers are raising more and more dairy replacement heifers for dairies in California, Wisconsin and other highly populated states. "It's a going business in Idaho, raising dairy replacement herds."

The Farm Bureau leader said recent increases in food costs were not, with the exception of the beef market where he noted a worldwide shortage, due to increased domestic consumption.

"I think one of the things that improved agriculture this year was expanded exports — the sale of wheat to Russia and China. We still have the potential to overproduce in this country."

Rockwood also pegged increased food costs to the consumer's demand for specialty foods and convenience foods. "They're even talking about dispensing potatoes one at a time. You go in and get a sack of groceries and come out with two wastebaskets full of paper."

Noting that the farmer's share of the food dollar was roughly 42 per cent, Rockwood blamed the economic system in the country for much of the high cost of food.

"What we've had in this country, regardless of the party in power, has been a cheap foods policy. This is related back to farm subsidy programs, and what we were really doing was subsidizing the consumer. In other words, you were paying part of your food bill back through income taxes. The present administration is moving away from farm subsidy. You're going to pay your price back through the market. Trouble is, you haven't seen your tax decrease, have you?"

On the subject of farm labor, Rockwood said he was "not opposed to the unionization of farm labor if this is their choice."

"I think they should select the union they want to belong to on a secret ballot and that ought to be their choice," Rockwood said. "Because I have the same right as a producer to join an organization, and they should be afforded the same privilege."

Admitting that mechanization had made obsolete many farm labor jobs, Rockwood said he thought there was still plenty of work for people who wanted to work.

In fact, he said, getting farm laborers was a highly competitive and serious problem. "I think it's because of the availability of welfare money, primarily."

"Most farmers are paying quite a bit above the minimum wage," Rockwood said. "On piece work workers can beat the minimum wage by quite a little bit, if they want to work."

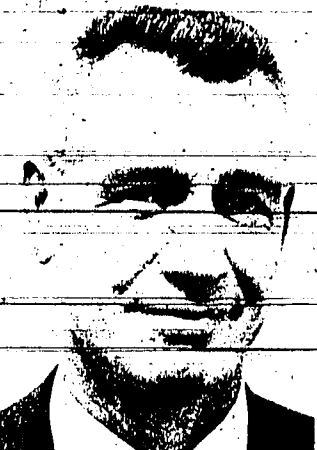

Rockwood also advocated multiple use of public lands, in opposition to some proposals to increase the size of primitive areas.

"Sixty-five per cent of Idaho is public land. If the economy of Idaho is going to survive, you've got to have multiple use, that's all."

Rockwood said he was not in favor of increased tourism and immigration of out-of-staters into Idaho. "I guess I'm selfish. I kind of like Idaho as it is now."

On the question of equal rights for women, Rockwood said the Farm Bureau Women's Committee was strongly opposed to ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and in favor of the Idaho legislature's rescinding its ratification.

"We feel that the woman's place is in the home with her children. And if we have evils in our society, and we certainly do, it's because maybe too many women are working and not enough of them are being mothers."

W. DALE ROCKWOOD
bureau leader

Blaine study committee meeting slated tonight

HAILEY — A general Program and Facilities Study Committee meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Wood River Junior High School, Hailey.

According to Walter Hoegel, on-site coordinator for the study toward a new high school, the meeting will include summary reports from each of the sub-groups to the study committee at large.

A list of these sub-groups, their chairmen and dates for task completion include instructional program, John Barton, Dec. 30; population study, Don Bennett, April 1; architect selection, Don Haines, Sept. 1; financial analysis, Ray Jefferson, Sept. 1; questionnaire analysis, Dr. Art Richards, March 30; and site selection, Harve Bickett, Sept. 1. Hoegel said interested citizens are urged to contact the chairman of the study coordinator for more information or to volunteer services.

Also on tonight's agenda will be a discussion of plans for cooperation with the University of Idaho School of Education and the continuation of the Department of Public Instruction Needs Assessment program will be described.

A special announcement from Wood's office states "since the beginning of the study, the study committee has pledged to hear the opinions of all interested citizens during various stages of study and planning."

The news release states the comprehensive questionnaire, developed by the committee, has been distributed to a wide segment of the community and returns are being processed. These questionnaires are still available in the offices of the Hemingway, Wood River Junior High, Bellevue and Carey schools.

Interested residents, who have not been contacted by a study group volunteer, and would like to express an opinion on hopes for the schools, are invited to pick up a questionnaire, complete it and return it to one of the school offices by March 23. Any and all planning will be based on an assessment of the opinions expressed in the questionnaire, the release stated.

Victim taken to Boise

TWIN FALLS — A Mountain Home man was flown by Air Force helicopter to St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise Wednesday afternoon for treatment of head injuries suffered in an auto accident Tuesday.

William M. Thorp, 20, was flown to Boise from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in critical condition.

Thorp suffered the head injuries when a car driven by Mark A. Mansfield, 20, Mountain Home Air Force Base, left Interstate 80 and rolled three times Tuesday afternoon.

Mansfield, who apparently fell asleep at the wheel before his car left road near the Highway 50 interchange, was taken to Mountain Home Air Force Hospital by Air Force ambulance Wednesday. He received lacerations and abrasions of the head and back in the accident but was not listed in serious condition.

Kimberly aides adopt budget

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly City Council Tuesday night adopted a budget of $109,740.14, in which the city structure remains the same as that of 1972.

The budget, according to city clerk Edythe Widmer, includes $16,670 in estimated federal revenue sharing funds and $5,600 in revenue sharing monies which have been banked as timed certificates since their receipt in 1972. Of these funds, $6,270 will be used for remodeling of the city hall and $7,400 for moving and remodeling the Kimberly Union Pacific railroad depot which will be used as a city cultural and recreational center.

$5,000 is designated for the purchase of machinery and equipment, and $3,000 for park areas and ground maintenance.

The budget as compared to that of 1972 is: Total general fund, $109,740; and $81,941.90; total revenue fund, $82,752.52 and $71,788.23; administrative department, $29,614.86 and $15,556.80; sanitation department, $12,540 and $12,684.30; fire department, $3,444 and $2,710; police department, $23,287.62 and $21,682.08; streets department, $38,844.86 and $26,308.72; parks department, $4,000 and $3,000.

At the meeting, the council also accepted a bid of $2,700 for moving of the railroad depot in three sections, from R. C. and Fern Taylor, Kimberly.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Omaha Woodmen Grove 6019 will have a baked food sale Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Buttreys Super Store.

Dog poisoning probed

SHOSHONE — Police in Shoshone are investigating apparent outbreak of dog poisoning within the city limits.

David Swarner, assistant chief of police, said several leads are being investigated. Lab tests indicate two of the dead dogs had laken strychnine.

Swarner said the police department is primarily concerned over the possibility of children accidentally being poisoned.

One Shoshone resident, has offered a $100 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of the responsible party or parties.

Canceled

JEROME — The annual smoked fish feed, scheduled by the Jerome Rod and Gun Club for tonight, has been canceled.

3 file for Jerome jobs

JEROME — Three nominating petitions have been filed for the April 24 school trustee election and four others are being circulated in the district.

Warren Kays, clerk of the school board, said today he has received nominating petitions from Don Allen, Darrel Wolfe and Jack Thomason.

"Petitions have also been taken out by Mrs. Forrest (Cheryl) Hymas, Richard E. Johnson, and the friends of William Hill," Kays said.

Another petition for Zone 3 has been taken out but Kays said he does not know the identity of the prospective candidate.

The present trustee in Zone 3, Dale Vining, has announced he will not seek re-election. Allen, who lives northwest of Jerome is a candidate in Zone 4, where the present trustee Jim Keith is not seeking re-election. Also running in Zone 4 is Mrs. Hymas.

Allen has been employed by Ida Gem Dairy Inc., for the past 13 years. His prime interest in serving on the school board, he said, is to develop compatibility among board members and to give maximum support to the administration.

Mrs. Hymas is a graduate of Jerome high school, attended the University of Colorado for two years and received a degree from Idaho State University. She taught in the Boise school system five years. She said she feels a candidate should be qualified, concerned and willing to spend a considerable amount of time conscientiously on behalf of the schools.

Wolfe will be a candidate in Zone 2 as will William Hill, should he decide to run.

The present trustee in Zone 2 is Leroy Weigle, who has made no announcement as to plans for re-election.

Wolfe resides south of Jerome and is an electronic technician with the Sawtooth National Forest and is also concerned with the dissension on the present board, he said.

Thomason, a farmer in the Sugar Loaf area, will be opposing Board Chairman Gordon Hollifield in Zone 5. Richard Johnson, who farms northwest of Jerome, will be opposing Trustee William Kersey in Zone 1.

Candidates for the trustee positions must secure petitions from Warren Kays, clerk of the board, and each petition must be signed by at least five persons in the candidate's zone and filed with the clerk 18 days prior to the April 24 election. One trustee will be elected from each of the five zones.

Voting will be in the High School gym from 1 to 8 p.m. Trustees in the first two zones will serve three year terms and those in Zones 3 and 4 will serve two year terms and the trustee of Zone 5 will serve one year.

Warden speaks in TF

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — "You can't build penitentiaries fast enough."

Raymond May, warden of the Idaho State Penitentiary, spoke Wednesday night of the problems of communication, and classification of rising numbers of prisoners to members of a criminal law class at CSI.

The class, sponsored by the Idaho Peace Officers Association, then heard questions from members directed to May and a panel of local law authorities including Robert E. Kroush, Idaho State probation and parole officer; Tim Qualls, chief of detectives,

Twin Falls police department; Ralph Lockery, probation and parole; volunteer; Ray A. Stewart, probation and parole officer; Robert Galley, Twin Falls County prosecutor; Monte Carlson, Twin Falls County public defender; Greg Fuller, of May, May and Sudweeks law firm moderated. May compared comments against him from two weeks ago with those he has received since rioting at the state penitentiary last week. Then, he said, "I was accused of being soft, of being coddling the prisoners; now I am responsible for cruel and unusual treatment."

In prison administration, he said "You're damned if you do and damned if you don't." "Some of our penitentiaries have become massive warehouses of humanity," May said. He blamed dislocation, the taking of a person from his environment, as a major factor in prison rioting.

A profile of a typical 1973 prison inmate is that of an intelligent member of a racial minority, he said, between 18 and 25 years of age, who has dabbled in drugs and is personable and aggressive.

"These individuals are a product of our society, an outgrowth of the protest movements of the late 60's and early 70's which has moved from the campuses to the prisons," May said.

May listed for class members some types of prison and law reform currently considered beneficial. It is asking too much of city fathers to be responsible for jail inspection, he said. "Piggyback" sentencing, the addition of one fence to another, doesn't work, he said.

"Separation of persons waiting trial from convicted prisoners is imperative," he said. "And poverty should not prevent the granting of bail or release until trial."

He spoke of work and study release furloughs for prisoners as part of the concept of indeterminacy, sentencing with no minimum requirement.

May also discussed the value of communication between defense attorneys, prosecutors, judges, correction officials and parole officers.

Blaine school libraries merge

HAILEY — Merger of the Wood River High School and Junior High School libraries has been proposed before the Blaine County School District trustees.

During a board meeting Monday night action was tabled on the proposal for further study.

Acting superintendent Ray Jefferson said the junior high school library is "marginal at best" and the high school library has been rated as "dissatisfactory."

The combination would involve remodeling of the high school study hall into a research study area, Jefferson said. The move would promote better utilization of district personnel, he said, as it calls for the transferring of the present junior high librarian to the new facility upon retirement of the high school librarian.

In other action, the board: Granted a one year leave of absence to Lynn J. Stewart, principal of the Carey High School. Trustee chairman William Mulloy said Stewart had requested the leave last fall primarily because of health reasons.

Approved a pilot project utilizing values clarification and drug prevention. The project costing about $190, was proposed during the previous board meeting by a six member drug intervention team which received training in Minnesota under a "help communities help themselves" mini grant.

Moved to send letters of intent to renew contracts of all present certified principals within the district.

Set April 26 as the deadline for acceptance of nominating petitions for the trustee election May 14. Two, three year term posts are up for election this year including the Zone 2 position presently held by Glenn Stelma, Bellevue, and the Zone 4 post held by Jane Kneeland, Ketchum.

Deferred action on a request by the community churches in Bellevue and Hailey to use the junior high school for evangelistic meetings May 6-12.

Moved to advise students involved in athletics not to travel on the major thorough fures in the county while exercising or practicing for events.

Decided to conduct regular board meetings at 8 p.m. in the Wood River Junior High School.

Accepted the resignations of Lee Lehrman, head of the Wood River High School science department, and Delores King, home economics teacher in the high school.

TF plans major spring cleaning

TWIN FALLS — One of the major spring cleaning tasks in Twin Falls is removal of debris from the Perrine Coulee behind the Lynwood Shopping Center stores.

The coulee, which flows behind shops, business offices and the parking lot of the shopping center on one side and a number of homes on the other, becomes a "trash collector," city officials say.

This week several youth groups have been recruited by Lynwood Shopping Center officials to remove trash from the stream bed Saturday.

City Manager Jean Milar said John Bishop, Lynwood Realty, is arranging the clean up project. The city will cooperate by providing one truck at the shopping center for hauling away the debris.

Milar said this is one major step toward the March 26-31 clean up week concentration. The city has asked all residents to complete their early yard, garage and house cleaning by the last week in March so the city-sanitation contractor may pick up debris and trash during the final week's pickup schedule.

No extra or special trucks will be used, but the regular collection schedule will expand to collect additional refuse, Milar said. Persons should place trash in proper containers or bundles with their regular sanitation contributions.

Milar said he is also announcing a new plan for a more beautiful and a cleaner Twin Falls this month.

He said there are some 30 city vehicles being driven by various city employees, department heads and officials in the city each day.

"I am asking each one of these people to pick up one item of trash each day. It doesn't take much longer to pick up an item of debris than it does to throw it out and if each of these employees picks up one discarded paper sack, bottle or can a day, that's 400 items every 10 working days and or 1,600 items a month," Milar said.

He said 1,600 less items of trash each month on city streets, right of way, yards, parks or vacant lots which would make Twin Falls a cleaner city.

"I would like to ask the public to adopt the same program and while driving or walking around the city to pick up an item or two of trash every day if they see it in the course of their day's travels," Milar said.

He also said the city will be cooperating with the county in the annual Johnny Horizon day scheduled for May.

Idaho flu epidemic over

BOISE (UPI) — The State Director of Preventive Medicine Tuesday said the flu epidemic in Idaho is over.

Dr. John Mather said the number of cases of flu being reported is down to what is normal for the winter and spring months.

The week ending March 3 there were 158 cases of flu reported.

Hanoi war scars show

By TRACY WOOD

HANOI (UPI) — The scars of war are still evident almost everywhere in Hanoi but in this new era of peace, its streets are as quiet and its nights as lazy as in any small midwestern American town.

Westerners accustomed to the heavy traffic and night-long din of other capitals are startled by the contrast. At night, the only sounds are the laughter of children at play or the occasional passing of a truck or a car or a man on a bicycle under the dim street lights. But the destruction of U.S. bombing attacks is apparent from the moment of arrival at Hanoi's Gia Lam Airport even after dark.

The terminal itself was not hit in the air raids, but the walls are pockmarked by shrapnel. Rubble lines the road along the six-mile ride into the city. In places, telephone poles were knocked down and the wires temporarily attached at eye level to trees.

At the edge of the town and the crumpled and rusting wreckage of equipment. Workers at one point labored well into the night by the faint light of dim lanterns to rebuild a brick structure.

Downtown, adults worked or ate by lantern light in homes that looked untouched by the bombing.

The Long Bien Bridge, knocked out during the war by U.S. air strikes, reopened two weeks ago. The mile-long bridge is the main link between Hanoi and the countryside across the river. The air raids destroyed the center span of the bridge but did not hit the steel girders supporting its approaches.

Officials said that while the bridge was out, traffic crossed the river on three pontoon bridges.

Reporters invited to Hanoi to cover the release of the American POWs were taken to the French-built Hoa Binh Hotel. The building with its stucco walls and high ceilings seemed untouched by the war. Meals consisted of soup and fish or salad and pork, all very tasty.

Explained one official: "Hoa Binh means peace."

Wallace punctured

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace's office said Tuesday the first acupuncture treatment has caused "no noticeable difference" in the governor's crippled and painful condition.

But Billy Joe Camp, Wallace's news secretary, said further acupuncture treatments are planned on Wallace, partially paralyzed by the bullets of an assassin in Maryland last year. The acupuncture treatment was administered in the executive mansion by Dr. Ling Sun Chu of New York City, Camp said, but "there was no

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz conveyed President Nixon's personal reassurances to Soviet leaders Wednesday that he is determined to develop U.S.-Soviet trade despite troubles with Congress about restrictions on Soviet Jewish immigration to Israel. Shultz had a three-hour meeting at the Kremlin with Leonid I. Brezhnev, Communist party general secretary. Both sides described the meeting as

"constructive" and friendly. Shultz told a news conference he "expressed the President's continuing determination to carry forward" on an agreement made last year to grant the Soviet Union most-favored nation-trade status. Shultz flew on to Bonn for talks with American and West German finance experts on new international monetary arrangements. Shultz told his news conference he found "a warm and good and constructive spirit" on the part of the Soviet officials toward resolving problems between them and Washington.

But he gave no indication that the Soviet Union, as the price for expanded trade with the United States, is prepared to lift a so-called educational tax on Jews seeking to emigrate to Israel.

A majority of both houses of Congress is on record as opposing favored nation treatment for the Soviet Union unless the tax is abolished. The Nixon administration, which has not yet submitted such legislation to Congress, has argued that the two issues should not be related.

Asked if he were optimistic about resolving the trade impasse, Shultz said: "The answer is yes. There does seem to be without question a warm and good and constructive spirit that says let us do things that are worthwhile together."

Brezhnev, wearing a cherry-broadly when photographers briefly at the start of the talks, red and blue tie, was smiling were admitted to his office

Yablonski slayer testifies

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — A man convicted in the slaying of Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski today contradicted the testimony of a confessed fellow assassin at the murder trial of former United Mine Workers (UMW) official William J. Prater.

Paul Gilly, who testified Tuesday for the prosecution, denied under cross-examination today that he took part in the actual shootings of the dissident UMW reform leader, his wife and daughter in December 1969. Gilly said he has been "sick and sorry ever since" that he did not deter the two other gunmen, Claude Venley and Anbram Martin.

JOHN S. MCCAIN III
... rejoins Navy family

Navy flier welcomed

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Navy Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III came home today to the Navy family he left more than five years before.

McCain, the son of the retired Adm. John S. McCain, the Commander in Chief of the Pacific Forces who directed much of the Vietnam War effort, was shot down on Oct. 26, 1967.

When he was shot down, he parachuted from his aircraft into the Truc Ban Lake, just northwest of Hanoi. There have been reports over the years that he suffered serious injuries to his legs.

When he reached freedom today, he limped, and his hair was noticeably graying.

McCain stepped off the aircraft ramp and saluted Adm. Noel S. Gayler, his father's successor. Gayler took McCain's hand and shook it warmly for at least 15 seconds while whispering into his ear.

McCain nodded and limped off to the ambulance bus waiting for him.

Once aboard the bus, unassisted, McCain sat quietly smiling and smoking a long filter tip cigarette.

Mrs. Gayler, the wife of the Admiral, was escorted to the bus window where she shook hands with McCain and showed her POW bracelet with his name on it.

"I told him I had talked with his father and mother and they were looking forward to seeing him in Florida," she said.

"We're so glad he's home and in good spirits."

Mrs. Gayler said she was so excited she couldn't remember what McCain said to her.

McCain's father was a crusty old salt who used to tour the forces under his command with a cigar stuck in his mouth. He barked orders incessantly and was a great favorite among officers and enlisted men alike.

Labor seeks boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Organized labor Wednesday called for Congress to raise the $1.60 per hour minimum wage to $2.50, and said it would still barely exceed the government's definition of poverty level wages.

AFL-CIO representative Andrew J. Blumiller told a House Labor subcommittee the need for the minimum wage hike "is obviously great and urgent."

Blumiller said labor supports a bill sponsored by Rep. John Dent, D-Pa., subcommittee chairman, that would increase the wage floor to $2 an hour 30 days after enactment and to $2.20 a year later.

He urged an amendment to include "a firm commitment to the establishment of a $2.50 an hour minimum wage in the near future."

Blumiller said the $2.50 hourly scale would mean a family income of $5,000 a year, compared with the government's definition of poverty income for a family of four as $4,400 a year.

Airlines alerted to threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has alerted airlines to be on guard against Palestinian terrorists possibly disguised as priests or women who might attempt to hijack or bomb a U.S. or Israeli airliner in Europe, an airline official said Wednesday.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) issued the advisory Friday, the official said. The FAA refused to comment on details of the alert. A spokesman said only "The FAA routinely disseminates any information it has concerning possible threats to aviation safety."

The airline official, who asked not to be identified, said the advisory warned that terrorists might make an attempt to attack an Israeli-El Al airliner or an American airliner in Europe during the next few weeks.

According to the official, the warning states:

"Information has been received from a reliable source that a group of Palestinians plan to either bomb or hijack an Israeli El Al, or U.S. airliner. The act will be accomplished in retaliation for shooting down a Libyan aircraft over the occupied Sinai Peninsula in February, 1973."

"It was reported that the terrorists who are to accomplish this act will be disguised as women or priests. Cited activity is expected to take place in some location in Europe."

Center open at Jerome

JEROME — A grand opening is planned Friday and Saturday at the new Animal Medical Clinic south of Jerome.

The new clinic is designed for the care of both large and small animals. It will be open to the public from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

The center is owned and operated by Dr. Steven J. Dixon and Dr. J. W. Jackson. Working with them are Linda Potter and Chris Colbey.

Dr. Dixon graduated from Wendell High School in 1959 and from the College of Veterinary Medicine at Washington State University in Pullman, Wash., in 1967. He spent the past four years working in Southern Idaho for the Bureau of Animal Industry, Disease Eradication Division. Dr. Jackson graduated from Kimberly High School in 1961 and attended the University of Washington at Pullman, Wash., where he majored in veterinary medicine.

Dr. Jackson spent four years in private practice at Jackson, Calif., and a year in private practice at Weiser before moving to Jerome.

A unique feature of the center is a night depository for small animals. Anyone wishing to leave an animal for treatment after office hours can place the animal in the depository or can pick one up also after office hours.

The center is equipped with all the latest medical equipment which includes a complete lab, x-ray equipment, operating room and holding pens for both large and small animals.

A mobile service is also offered by the clinic for animals which are not able to be brought to the center.

Outpost retaken

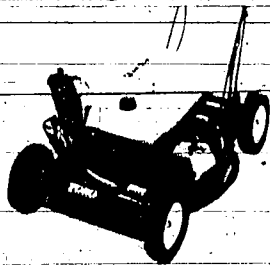

Phnom Penh (UPI) — Cambodian troops recaptured a key government outpost 10 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2 Wednesday with the aid of American jet fighters.

The Cambodian high command also reported sporadic fighting along the remaining 15-mile stretch of Highway 2 controlled by the Communists.

The recaptured outpost, Khleang Moeun, had been surrounded by Cambodian rebel troops since Feb. 18.

Bull sale set Friday

FILER — The 34th annual spring range bull sale of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association will be Friday at the Twin Falls county fair grounds.

The 210 entries include horned Herefords, polled Herefords, Shorthorns and Angus. Consignments will be coming from top Idaho herds as well as Wyoming, Oregon and Washington.

Jim Faulkner, Bliss, is sales chairman and Tom Prescott, Jerome, is a sale committee member. Robert Hinderlinder, Boise is executive vice president of the association and will assist with the sale. Jim Olson, Boise, is association secretary.

Sifting of the bulls began today at the fairgrounds and the consignments will be graded Thursday under the direction of Judges, Piero Piva, Chellis and Bill Ross, Jordan Valley and Wade Wells, University of Idaho.

A no-host banquet for consignors and buyers will be held Thursday night in the Rogerson Hotel in Twin Falls. Sale of the bulls begins at 11 a.m. Friday. Auctioneers will be Bill Rehm, Belgrade, Mont., and Clayton Tschirgi, Fruitland.

Officers of the Idaho Hereford Association are Ralph Stelle, Idaho Falls, president, and Ferrell Daniels, Malad, first vice president.

Court action threatened

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The federal Department of Agriculture here says criminal action may be taken against growers and shippers of lettuce containing illegal residues of a poisonous pesticide called phosdrin.

FDA compliance officer Kenneth Kimmel made the statement Tuesday following disclosure that nearly a quarter of a million heads of lettuce harvested from an Imperial Valley farm may contain illegal residue of the pesticide.

Phosdrin is one of the most poisonous of the organophosphate chemicals which were approved as substitutes for Monitor A after that pesticide was withdrawn from use in the lettuce fields.

Last Friday, a spokesman for the Imperial Valley Farm Workers Union charged that the Imperial Valley farm of Danny Denenberg Farms, Inc., had ordered its workers to pick lettuce a day after it had been treated with phosdrin.

Federal law requires that lettuce cannot be harvested until four days after application of 16 ounces of phosdrin per acre.

A spokesman for Imperial County agriculture commissioner Claude M. Pinnell confirmed the charge Tuesday, saying the 240,000 heads of lettuce were picked March 2, a day after the pesticide application.

John V. Taylor, said the California Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration were being asked to check for illegal residues of phosdrin on the shipped lettuce.

The federal tolerance for the pesticide is one-half part per million. Less than lethal poisoning by phosdrin can produce nausea, headache, vomiting, and visual difficulties.

If illegal amounts of the pesticide are found in the lettuce it will be the second case of phosdrin contamination in recent weeks.

FDA officials said 24,000 heads of lettuce harvested from the Yuma, Ariz., farm of Bruce Church, Inc., had residues of two parts per million, four times the tolerable level. Officials said 8,500 heads were stopped at the distribution point but that the remaining 15,500 found their way to consumers.

Boycott group going strong

SPOKANE (UPI) — A spokeswoman for the citizen's group "Ladies Against Meat Prices" (LAMP) said Tuesday that the group was still going strong and has not let up in its boycott of meat purchases.

Alice Olson said LAMP would have pickets back in front of Spokane supermarkets in conjunction with a national boycott starting April 1.

The group had pickets out for about a week last month, but called them off just prior to an all-day forum Feb. 7. About 50 persons showed up for the FENCE POSTS outline fields flooded by the Missouri River at a farm in north St. Louis County. The farm house, on high ground, appears to be safe from the flooding. Forecasts of more rain caused new worry for families along swollen rivers in the area.

High beef costs due short stay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers paying record prices for beef cannot expect much relief in the next few months, but they may see lower prices sometime during the middle 1970's because of rapidly rising production, the agriculture department says.

A department report said cattle prices are expected to weaken sometime this spring because of heavy marketing, but will remain well above a year ago because of strong consumer demands.

Department economists added that hog price prospects, which appear to foreshadow some consumer relief, point to a decline in prices in response to seasonally increased supply in March and April. This will be followed by a price increase to a summer peak which may be below current levels, and then by another seasonal price decline in late summer and fall.

After midsummer, hogs will average below levels, economists predicted.

The report said a Jan. 1 survey of beef cattle showed that producers are expanding their herds at the fastest rate in a decade in an effort to catch up with consumer demands.

The report said bigger cattle numbers indicate consumers will be getting more beef supplies this year, even though prices for the next few months will be above a year ago.

Fruit killed

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A December cold snap wiped out the peach crop, the wine grapes and some of the cherry crop in the Caldwell area, according to a University of Idaho horticulturist.

Anton Horn, State Horticulturist with the Extension Service, said one-third of the normal concord grape crop was killed by the cold spell along with most of the wine grapes.

Some cherry buds are dead but Horn said a good crop could develop anyway with normal pruning. Damage to wood fiber of cherry and peach trees might cause permanent losses of fruit but the condition won't be certain until spring.

TF wool bought

TWIN FALLS — Kenneth Park, Wool Committee chairman, reported Wednesday that the Twin Falls Livestock Marketing Association has sold its wool to James R. Condon of the Caron Top Company, Rochelle, Ill. for $1.12.93.

Other bids received were North Central Wool Marketing Corp., $1.04.20 and Prouvost LeFebvre and Co., for $1.03.37. The Association received contracts for approximately 4,100 fleeces.

Wool pool sold

SPOKANE — The 1973 wool pool for the Lincoln County Marketing Association was sold to the North Central Wool Marketing Corp. Tuesday.

The representatives were Robert Patterson, Montana, and Bill Hadlock, Jerome. The pool sold for $1.4533 per pound. Last year the pool sold at $1.4568.

Emil Klimies, Jerome, president of the marketing association, said this indicates wool prices may be the highest in 10 years during 1973. He said he believes the price hike is due to the need for wool as industries find many synthetics are not acceptable to the buyer.

"You just can't beat the old standby, wool," he said. Two other bidders were Scott Smith, representing Prouvost LeFebvre at $1.0711 and Jim Condon, representative of Caron Spinning Co. at $1.05. There will be 5,600 fleeces sold coming from Jerome, Gooding, Camas and Lincoln Counties.

Eagles drop Platte 70-67

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports editor

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Rick Sobers, 15-foot jump shot followed by two free throws with seven seconds left sent the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles past Platte, Neb., 70 to 67 and into the consolation finals of the National Junior College tournament.

The Eagles will meet the winner of Three Rivers, Mo., and Waco, Tex., game that was scheduled this afternoon.

CSI plays at noon Friday and if successful will play for consolation honors at 1 p.m. Saturday.

For a while Wednesday, it appeared CSI would coast into a lopsided win but the first ten minutes of the second half saw Platte overcome a 14-point lead and with three minutes left in the game the Eagles trailed by four points.

Field goals by Sobers and Vince Volmut tied it at 64 all two minutes later but Platte regained the lead on a free throw by Tim Williams with 1:08 to play.

CSI's Ron Fryson and Bill Blieserich had offsetting field goals which left the Eagles behind 67-66 and with 32 seconds left. Eight seconds later Sobers hit his jump shot and CSI regained possession seconds later on a missed shot.

The Eagles wasted the clock to seven seconds when Sobers was fouled and dropped both free throws.

The Eagles opened well and ran into a 11 to 2 lead in the first three minutes. Platte then came back to reduce the lead to 17 to 10 before Ron Fryson and Willie Williams got CSI rolling. Fryson hit six straight points midway through the half for a 20-15 advantage and the lead crested at 45 points.

CSI last led by 15 as Sobers opened the second half with a field goal. Then Tim Williams and Greg West warmed up to bring Platte back into the game.

It took Platte seven minutes to cut seven points off the lead and with 8:33 to go, the Nebraskans reduced that to six for the first time.

With 7:02 remaining, CSI went completely cold from the field and Platte hit the next 12 points in the game carrying them to a 64-60 lead.

Inconsistency hurts Eagles in tournament

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports editor

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — If someone has a way to get the CSI Golden Eagles rolling smoothly, coach Jerry Hale would like to hear from them.

The Eagles for the second straight night in the national tournament had trouble scoring consistently and had unusual woes in rebounding and in the defensive department.

The Eagles lost their opener in overtime and then frittered away a 15-point lead before rallying past Platte, Neb., Wednesday night.

It was the inability to hold the lead that upset Coach Hale.

"This team has never shown a killer instinct. We've sat through this a dozen times this year, getting up by 15 to 20 points and then letting them come back instead of blowing them off the court. I don't know why. If I did it wouldn't happen," he said.

"We blew several easy plays and three or four times had the ball in the hole, only to lose it all with charging fouls or fouls underneath. Defensively things have been happening to us that haven't happened before.

"In the man game they're getting the buckets off as cuts away from the ball and this hasn't hurt us at all during the season. In the zone, we're giving up a lot of points and offensive rebounds to the offense.

"It's going to be tough to get things going but we still have a chance to win two and finish fifth. A day's rest has to help us (the Eagles don't play today). The boys looked a little tired."

Rick Sobers, who wound up the hero in Wednesday's win, sat in the dressing room shaking his head in frustration.

"I'm still tight," the 6-3 guard said. "I don't feel I'm pressing too hard and I think I'm ready to play but it doesn't feel right. Nothing I shot tonight felt like it was going in."

Assistant coach Bob Banfield said, "We've been badly out of sync in these two games. Our opponents have been picking up all the loose balls and we've lost several outlet passes."

"There is tremendous quickness in this tournament and we're just going to have to hustle harder."

Amateurs in "crisis"

WASHINGTON, UPI — Rep. Peter Peyer, R-N.Y., charged Wednesday that established amateur athletic organizations "have created a crisis which jeopardizes the prestige of amateur athletics in the United States."

Peyer proposed creation of a Federal Scholastic and Amateur Sports Commission in the Department of Health Education and Welfare to "guarantee the cooperation of amateur organizations in international competitions."

Peyer has been attempting to mediate the dispute between the U.S.A.A. and the A.A.U. over the U.S.-Russian track meet in Richmond, Va. this weekend. He criticized the two American organizations for their "constant bickering and jockeying

ITA head "confident"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Memo from Mike O'Hara to his skeptics: "You fellows were wrong; dead wrong."

"I'm really, really confident," said the founder and controlling stockholder of the International Track Association. "I'm more confident than ever."

The ITA is the new pro track and field circuit — something that never has been done — and its official inaugural will be held at the Sports Arena here next Saturday night.

O'Hara, 40, says he is looking for a crowd "upwards of 10,000" but "Don't be surprised if we have a sellout." A track sellout at the Sports Arena means 13,500.

His prediction, based on the 10,480 fans who showed up for the ITA's "practice" meet at Pocatello, Idaho, two weeks ago, seems extremely realistic. The first grass gate was more than $30,000, close to the projected "break even" point.

The 18-meet ITA season — all indoors — will run through June 6, when it concludes in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"There is nothing firm yet," O'Hara said. "It looks like we'll be going to Europe for a month after we finish up in the U.S. We know pretty much where we'd like to go. All those meets would be outdoors."

A member of the U.S. Olympic volleyball team in 1964, the 40-year-old pro track and field czar can hardly contain his enthusiasm. "The skeptics laughed openly when O'Hara boldly announced his plans at New York last Nov. 14 but they're silent now."

Discover Wildlife

It's Too Good To Miss

National Wildlife Week

National Wildlife Federation and State Affiliates March 18-24, 1973

Spring symbol

A YOUNG wood duck popping out of its nesting box is as much a part of spring as the annual celebration of National Wildlife Week (March 18-24, 1973). Soon he will grow to become one of our most spectacular waterfowl. The poster photo highlights the Wildlife Week theme, DISCOVER WILDLIFE — It's Too Good To Miss.

National Wildlife Week scheduled March 18-24

Plans are being readied by thousands of local and state groups across the country for participation in the 36th annual National Wildlife Week, set for March 18-24.

The theme of the 1973 Wildlife Week, sponsored each year by the 3 and 1/2 million member National Wildlife Federation and its state affiliates, is "DISCOVER WILDLIFE — It's Too Good To Miss."

Focus of the week will be on the simple, yet exciting, joys that can be found by Americans of all ages in the outdoor, natural world.

The executive vice president of the NWF, Thomas L. Kimball, commented on the Wildlife Week's poster symbol, a young wood duck nestling just emerging from its nest.

"All that newly-hatched duck has to do to break out into the natural world is take that first step out of the nest," Kimball said. "And it's nearly as easy for people to take that same step, to break out into nature and see what beauty it has to offer."

During this year's Wildlife Week, Kimball urges that families "get out and enjoy our wild resources. The experience can open up an entirely new world."

"Too often," Kimball said, "American families see wildlife and the rest of the natural world only through attractive magazine pictures. It's not there to be experienced right now and it really is too good to be missed."

Rupert wildlife group organized

RUPERT — Organization of a Wildlife Federation for Minidoka County will be the object of a meeting March 19 in the Rupert City Hall.

Bill Whitton, co-chairman of the organizational group, said that the purpose will be to bring all interested persons together in a group to support hunting, fishing, boating, hiking, swimming, photography, and preservation of the esthetic values of the county together into one federation.

Whitton said the interests of those attending the meeting need not be limited to these specific activities. He said it is planned the county group will work with the state and federal wildlife federations to secure legislation for sound conservation practices and policies and to promote a feeling of good will between property owners and sportsmen in the county.

The organization will meet the third Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Rupert City Hall. The March 19 meeting will be in the city hall on the second floor.

Whitton said election of officers will be held during the coming meeting and refreshments will be served with prizes offered.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department representatives will show a wildlife film. There is no charge and all interested persons are invited to attend.

NCAA faces fines under legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawmakers seeking to mediate the NCAA-AAU dispute Wednesday introduced a bill that would levy fines up to $10,000 if a college athlete was banned from intercollegiate contests because he participated in amateur international competition.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and John Dellenbach, R-Ore., sponsored the measure which they said grew out of the disputes over the touring Russian Olympic basketball team and a track and field meet with Soviet performers.

The Amateur Athletic Union is sponsoring both tours with plans to have the top collegiate U.S. players meet the Russians. The National Collegiate Athletic Association has forbidden its member players from participating.

A House subcommittee headed by O'Hara, and on which Dellenbach serves as the ranking Republican, took testimony on the dispute earlier this month and then huddled privately with NCAA-AAU officials hoping to resolve the issue.

"Apparently our hope was futile," O'Hara said as he announced introduction of the bill. "We were met with intransigence by both sides during the public hearing, and intransigence by both sides in the private meeting which followed."

O'Hara said the measure "would provide criminal penalties of up to $10,000 in fines for denying, suspending or withdrawing the eligibility of any student athlete to participate in intercollegiate athletic events because of the student athlete's participation in amateur international competition as a member of a U.S. sports team."

"It would provide the same penalties for denying a berth on a U.S. team in amateur international competition to an athlete on the basis of his participation in any athletic event as a representative of his school."

Durocher called "a free-loader"

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Marvin Miller, calling Leo Durocher "a free-loader riding on the backs of players, fellow managers, coaches, and trainers," blasted the Houston Astro manager Wednesday for interfering with player meetings at training camps.

The executive director of the Players' Association said Durocher "acted like a six-year-old" when he butted in on Miller's meeting with the Astros and Texas Rangers at Pompano Beach Monday.

"It was absurd," Miller said. "The meeting wasn't underway a half-hour when Durocher comes blustering in, waving his arms and saying 'Okay, okay, meeting all over, let's go.'"

"We have a written contract guaranteeing us a 90 minute meeting with each team," Miller continued. "And I debated showing him up right in front of his team, but I didn't think it would have been good for the young players on his club."

When the Astro players complied with Durocher's order, Miller continued his meeting with the Rangers in center field but practice had begun and Miller said that while he was talking with his back to the plate, several balls were hit in his general direction.

"More childish harassment," Miller said. "Somebody was hitting fungoes and I would guess it was Durocher. I didn't look to see who it was."

When Spec Richardson, the Houston General Manager, tried to discuss the meetings, Miller said he was not about to have the issue confused. "I told Spec," Miller said, "that I thought he was afraid of Durocher, and Spec just mumbled something and walked away."

Turning his guns on Durocher as a "freelander," Miller said: "The maximum pension benefit goes to a man with 20 years service who does not draw that pension until age 65. When I came into baseball a little over six years ago, the maximum was $723 a month. Durocher retired last year and began drawing approximately $2,000 a month, the difference there being solely due to the players and their association."

Tohill "critical"

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Youthful Texas Christian head football coach Billy Tohill suffered fractures of the face, rib, pelvis, foot and wrist in a 90-mile-hour auto wreck Wednesday and faced a "touch and go" battle for his life.

The 33-year-old Tohill, youngest coach in the Southwest Conference, spent hours on the operating table in John Peter Smith Hospital while teams of doctors fought to save him.

Tohill, who became TCU's head coach less than 18 months ago when his predecessor, Jim Pittman, suffered a fatal sudden-heart seizure during a game, was injured at 6:35 a.m. when his 1973 Lincoln Continental bounced off an Interstate 35W curb, veered back across the road and into highways signs and flipped over onto an access road.

Fort Worth patrolman M.F. Pendergraft, who investigated the accident, said the speedometer on Tohill's car locked at 90 miles an hour and that the car was probably traveling even faster before the first impact.

Tohill went into surgery at 9:45 a.m. and was still on the operating table at 1 p.m.

A noon CST medical bulletin listed his condition as remaining critical after one team of general and thoracic surgeons completed abdominal surgery and found no major injury to his spleen, pancreas or liver. They said there was a slight tear to the external lining of his intestinal tract.

Briton guns for third "Jacklin-ville" title

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Defending champion Tony Jacklin, who drives a Rolls Royce and lives in a $100,000 Buckingham Palace, guns for his third "Jacklin-ville" open title Thursday against a strong field including Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, Bruce Crampton, John Schlee and impressive young studs Allan. Jacklin, a 28-year-old Briton, had to be coaxed into defending his title in the $130,000 Greater Jacksonville Open being played at the 7,000-acre Deerwood Country Club course. He originally announced he wouldn't play after dismal finishes in three previous tour events this year.

When he defeated John Jacobs in a sudden death playoff last year, he quipped, "this is now Jacklin-ville."

But much of the magic of that moment has faded for Jacklin, who quit the tour last July after playing in 20 tournaments. He announced that in the future he would be a sometime participant on the U.S. tour, that he missed his family in England and no longer really needed the money.

"I am at the point where I play for personal satisfaction and not the money derived from tournament golf," Jacklin said. So far this year, Jacklin has won only $174 in three U.S. tour starts—that for a 76th place finish at Phoenix. He failed to survive the cut in Los Angeles and Tucson though he fared better on the Caribbean tour with a second at Maracaibo and fifth at Caracas.

Jacklin said he is happy about his decision to devote most of his time to tournament play in Europe where he hopes to win the coveted Arnold Palmer and American Golf Friends say Tony is already a millionaire on the basis of his numerous fringe enterprises and the likable, curly-haired pro has just moved into a house that looks like a little Buckingham Palace 30 miles from London.

Nicklaus, the game's dominant star by far, finished a disappointing 16th in the Doral Open last week. With the Masters just three weeks away, Jacklin is eager to get back on his game.

He ranks third on the money list with $67,490, well behind Lee Trevino, $90,543, winner of Doral and Tesson tournaments, and Crampton, $81,430, winner of the Phoenix and Tucson opens.

After the week's play and save time and money.

TF hosts Poky, Jerome, Skyline in track meet

The Twin Falls Bruins open a track season which they hope will lead to a fourth straight state title Friday when they host three schools at Bruin Stadium.

Field events will begin at 3:30 p.m. with running events at 4 p.m. Participating in the event will be Skyline, Pocatello, Jerome and Twin Falls.

Coach Jerry Kleinkopf is working with more than 60 men on the Bruin squad, including two defending state champions and the near total return of all relay teams.

Middle distance star Gary Sievers already has turned in a sub-two-minute half mile during an indoor meet at the midhome. He won that event and anchored the champion mile relay team at state last year. In addition, it appears the youngster has picked up speed for this senior year.

The other returning state champ is quartermiler Bruce

Cooper, who also runs on relays. Adding further to the Bruin distance depth is Pat Charlton, who shared the A-2 state title with Rick Ward of Wood River last spring then moved to Twin Falls when his father, Frank Charlton, was appointed Twin Falls high school principal. Doug Larsen, sidelined by injuries in track and cross country the last times out, and Dave Sears bolster the Bruin distance strength.

John Blake adds strength in the pole vault, having cleared 13-6 this year, 18 inches better than he did indoors last year. Sophomore Gary Miller looms as a second strong point in that event.

The Bruin relays again will be strong with sprinters Brent Olmstead, Gary Scott, Mark Miller, Bill Woodson and Brent Thompson. Sievers and Cooper join in the longer relay lineups with Mike Sturgill and Richard Warner, out most of last year with a hamstring pull, providing the quartermile depth for opens and relays.

Woodson, Miller, Thompson, Olmstead and Scott give Twin Falls open sprint power, with Miller maintaining his low hurdle role, something started late last season but eventually leading to the state finals.

Twin Falls will be looking for a high jumper but Thompson is back in the long jump. Wilcox could become a discus point winner and Kevan was upto 50 feet in the shotput when the season ended last spring.

Coach Kleinkopf finds the sophomore class isn't as endowed with talent and depth as the senior class but notes there are some good looking candidates.

UCLA leads teams to beat in NCAA

By United Press International
UCLA, Maryland, Kansas State and Marquette loom as the regional favorites as the NCAA Tournament moves into round two Thursday night at four locations across the nation.

Top-ranked UCLA, of course, is the favorite to capture its seventeenth consecutive NCAA title, and the Pacific Eight champions will open defense of their crown against Western Athletic Conference finalist Arizona State in a semi-final game of the Pac West regionals at Los Angeles.

In the other game, Long Beach State, ranked No. 3, goes against San Francisco. The Bruins, who went 26-0 during the regular season, will enjoy an added advantage over the Sun Devils since the Pac West regionals are being played at Pauley Pavilion, the Bruins' home court. Since Pauley Pavilion was erected eight years ago the Bruins have lost only twice there in 117 games.

"I hope USC, Arizona State and Long Beach State are very aware of the home court advantage," says UCLA coach John Wooden. "I want all the players to read it and think about it."

Arizona State, which has a 19-7 record, has the speed to match the Bruins but not the height or the experience. The Sun Devils ran Oklahoma City off the court, 103-70, in a first round NCAA game at Logan, Utah, last weekend, but they didn't have to contend with a Bill Walton.

Long Beach State, with a 26-2 record, figures to get past San Francisco (22-1), although Tarkenton. "The two teams are just about equal" in size. They're a lot stronger than last year and we're going to have to play very well to beat them."

Maryland, ranked No. 10 in the final ratings, faces 14th-ranked Syracuse in a semi-final game of the East Regionals at Charlotte, N.C., with fifth-ranked Providence meeting 20th-ranked Pennsylvania in the other game.

Maryland, with tremendous height up front, is expected to have 6-foot-9 rebounding ace Len Elmore back in action for Syracuse. Elmore missed the recent Atlantic Coast Conference tournament because of a broken foot. With a healthy Elmore to go along with 6-11 Tom McMillen, the Terps will be hard to beat for eastern barrels.

Marquette, ranked No. 4, has a tough first game against Big Ten champion Indiana in the semi-finals of the midwest regional at Nashville, Tenn.

Railroad takeover proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, today proposed legislation calling for a total government takeover of seven major railroad systems in the northeast.

Saxbe, at a news conference, conceded his bill stood little chance of passage in this Congress or anytime soon.

"He blamed both management and labor for the state of the railroads."

"The railroads are going to hell and the two sides are fighting over the corpses," he said. "All I hope is that this will stir up some interest in their plight."

His proposal calls for nationalization of the Penn-Central, Erie-Lackawanna, Reading, Lehigh, New Haven, Boston & Maine and Central of New Jersey.

Saxbe estimated that the total cost of the takeover by the Department of Transportation would be between $3.5 and $4 billion.

The Ohio senator said he found his proposal "ideologically distasteful" but advocated it because the country "would face economic chaos if the roads are forced to cease operations."

He said, "If we wait much longer, all we're going to have is a streak of rust and a pile of junk."

Saxbe also said that Amtrak, the quasi-government rail passenger corporation, was "a dismal failure" and advocated "putting it in mothballs."

"We can't afford to put $200 million a year down the drain to provide rail passenger services for people who don't want to ride them," he said.

C5A cost attacked in audit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A General Accounting Office (GAO) report said today that the cost of the huge C5A cargo plane has soared to $62 million, up from the $44 million originally planned, the program is two years behind schedule, and still operationally not ready.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a statement that the GAO report "shows that although the program is almost completed costs are continuing to increase and can be expected to increase further."

"The new increases are due mainly to the cost of correcting the many deficiencies discovered in the C5A."

The total estimated cost of the program is now $4.9 billion compared to the original estimate in 1965 of $3.4 billion.

In addition, the number of planes procured was cut from 120 to 81 but two have already been destroyed in accidents.

Proxmire said "the deficiencies in the aircraft have been so significant that serious limitations have had to be placed on the operation of the C5A and it is not estimated that several important operational requirements may never be met."

"The plane is not now capable of flying at low levels or operating from support area fields," he added.

Tank bought

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said today Bonneville Power Administration has awarded a contract to K & T Steel Corp. of Twin Falls for the purchase of an oil storage tank.

The price of the contract awarded is $21,698.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES The morning finds you with all kinds of interesting means for putting in action your plans, with the aid of an up-and-doing individual. Afternoon and evening bring you the chance to do those things which appeal to the romantic and the imaginative side of your nature, so enjoy yourself then.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Accept that invitation in a m. that can bring you much happiness, but reserve the evening for quiet pleasure and fun. Plan the future so it is more as you want it to be. An expert can give you excellent ideas, advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can handle that home affair well in a m., but tonight is fine for the social side of life. Put more harmony into your home by being more thoughtful, kind. Favorite hobby with friends is excellent in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have some excellent program in mind that should be discussed with associates to get cooperation for it. Shop early also. Carry through later with what higher-up expects of you, and get community affairs handled also.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can do whatever will add to your assets in a m., but in the evening it is best to carry through with new ideas you have. Consult with some financial expert for best results first, however.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get appearance improved in a m., then keep business and other important appointments on time, and get fine results. Arrange social affair early so all goes well for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are highly inspired in a m., so make notes of ideas in order not to forget them, since later you have to gain the goodwill of an associate. Do what is required of you. Show your intellect, charm to others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is best time to get a bigwig to give you the support you need for your plans and aims. Do something later to improve your surroundings and accept that social invitation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get that civic work done early in the day, then you have time for the pleasure and recreation you want. Do something to please a bigwig. Evening fine for creative work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have the chance now to make a new friend, find the right associate you need for any business venture, so that both home and job are improved. Answer out-of-town letters and do some entertaining at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle responsibilities in the morning so that later you can keep appointments with persons helpful to your interests. Get the shopping done that is important. A favor for an attachment can pave the way for better understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sit down with partners in a.m. and clarify mutual affairs so you can later make improvements on whatever is of a financial nature. Get budget better organized, too. Try to please mate more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Buy the clothing you need in a.m. and try to reach a better understanding with fellow workers. Health and charm treatments are also important. Time spent with congenials can lead to something very fine now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who can wheedle just about anything from others by simply using the winning smile, and so long as you teach early to stand on own two feet and to be ethical, there can be very big success in this child because the mind is sharp and there is a liking for people and the desire to please them. The spiritual understanding is great, too.

Customer asks how long it takes to get a patent, ordinarily, just 32 months is average. CURIOUSLY, NOBODY anywhere seems to know whether the word "lunch" comes from "lunch" or vice versa. IF PROPERLY TRAINED, the Taurus man tends to show a particular knack as a builder, say the stargazers. A BABY CHICK will eat considerably more if there's a mirror in its coop, please note. OLDEST SHORTHAND symbol in any language is the "ampersand" for the word "and." That elder Roman Marcus Tiro invented it in 63 B. C.

NO DOUBT you repeatedly have heard about those political decisions made in "smoke-filled rooms." But do you know the whereabouts of the original smoke-filled rooms from whence the expression sprang? They were 804 and 805, occupied by one George Harvey, in Chicago's Blackstone Hotel. That was where Harry Mcajah Daugherty, Warren Harding's manager, said the Republican National Convention would be decided in 1920.

PREMATURE BABIES

Q. "What proportion of the babies born around here are premature?"
A. Figure six out of every 100.

IT HAS LONG been contended by the newspaper syndicates that for every reader who writes a letter to some feature contributor, there are about 10,000 readers who don't write. In other words, each letter supposedly represents 10,000 readers. Proof of this fascinating claim remains lacking, however.

DOES YOUR NAME contain a capital Y, W, L, R, M, N or NG? If so, that's good. A language specialist insists names with these low-pitched consonants are the most musical of all to the ear.

A RELATIVELY simple little animal, the sponge. Yet break it into a whole batch of tiny pieces and it has the ability to reassemble itself. Now how does it do that, pray?

LOVE AND WAR

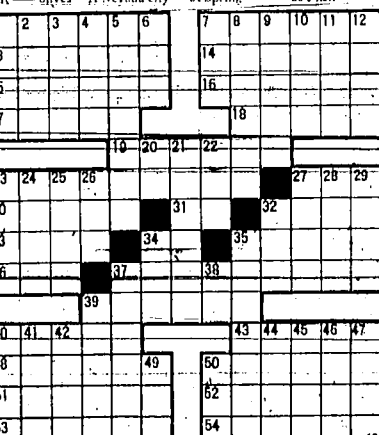

Get out of the cities, go into the small towns. That's the advice the Love and War experts have given to young ladies in search of eligible bachelors. Now a feminine client says she wants further facts to substantiate such counsel. All right, those states with a natural surplus of unattached men over single girls, in order, are Alaska, Hawaii, Nevada, Wyoming, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, South Dakota and New Mexico. Consider it. While some mighty big towns are contained therein, you won't find in them what are called vast metropolitan areas.

FIFTY-SEVEN PER CENT of the women in one nationwide survey told the pollsters they know how to clean a fish. This is sad. At least 92 per cent should know how to clean a fish. Likewise, at least 7 per cent of the men.

'New Army' recruiting campaign strikes snag be open from 8 a.m. six days a week, he said, so this requires longer hours. There is no payment for overtime, he said.

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — The recruiting campaign for the "New Army" is running into trouble in northern Illinois. In fact, it has sparked a housewives' revolt.

The problem, according to recruiting officers' wives who drove to Peoria to picket the command headquarters this week, is that finding the quantity and quality of men for the all-volunteer Army is taking too much time and creating too much pressure on their husbands.

"My husband works from 8 o'clock in the morning to 8 or 9 at night and he never complained. But when he came home with an ulcer ready to burst, I found out the pressure he was under," said Helen Thompson of Aurora, whose husband, Sgt. Clarence "Bill" Young, has been a recruiter since Dec. 17, 1971.

"The families can't take it," Rosali Hobby of Kankakee said. "The father can see the children only on Sunday. My husband doesn't get a chance to have a meal with us until Sunday. My 12-year-old son was ready to go down and picket with us.

"We decided not to take the children this time, but if something doesn't happen by next Monday, we'll go back and we'll take the kids with us," Mrs. Hobby said.

They plan to have more signs if they do, adding to a collection which includes such slogans as "The Pows came home, why not the recruiters?" "Stop harassing recruiters, the Army needs them," and "40 hour work week for privates, 72 hours for recruiters."

The direct object of their ire is the commanding officer of the recruiting effort for northern Illinois, Lt. Col. Willard Onellon, who is in charge of 400 men at 33 area recruiting stations.

Onellon met with some of the women after Monday's picketing session and said he thought the women had mistaken "administrative procedures" for "discipline" and "quotas" for "objectives."

"It's basically a selling job and we've raised the quality standards. It may have been easier when we could concentrate on high school dropouts but with a smaller Army we need a higher quality of volunteers to do the job," Onellon said.

The recruiting offices must

Troop 65 planning project

TWIN FALLS — Proceeds from a pancake supper March 21 will help pay expenses of Boy Scout Troop 65 on its trip to the 1973 National Jamboree in August.

The troop, sponsored by the Twin Falls First Christian Church, will serve the public from 5 to 8 p.m. with a 35-year old sourdough pancake recipe donated by George McGinnis. Troop members will sell tickets in the Twin Falls area in an effort to pay for gasoline, equipment and food for the trip to the jamboree at Farragut State Park, according to Roger Graefe, supper chairman.

Induction notice for draft dodger

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — A draft resister who came home from Sweden to "get it over" won a court victory Tuesday and was promptly drafted again.

U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham dismissed draft evasion charges against Kenneth Rutledge, 26, because the government couldn't prove he had ever received induction papers mailed to him in Sweden.

But Rutledge, who returned to the United States shortly after the Vietnam cease-fire, was handed a new induction order before leaving court. It ordered him to report for duty in the Army on March 21.

On his return, Rutledge, who lived in Sweden on and off for seven years and has a wife there, said he didn't believe amnesty would be granted to draft evaders and he wanted to "get it over."

Discount approved

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to extend to broken case lots of liquor the five per cent retailer's discount now allowed on unbroken case lots made it through the legislature Tuesday.

Originally, the bill provided for the discount on all liquor purchases by persons with liquor by the drink licenses. The senate amended this to apply only to case lot purchases and passed the bill. Then the house concurred in the senate amendments and passed the bill 37-26. It goes now to the governor.
